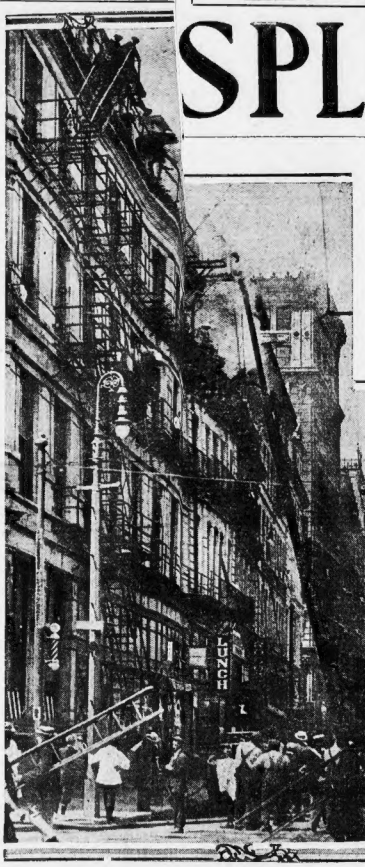
200 GIRLS FLEE DOWNTOWN FIRE

FIREMEN carrying la over fire escapes on Su mer street along which ga had just fled to safety.

K. OF P. TRAIN WRECKED; 5 DEAD

SPLIT ON MEXICAN POLICY



WOMEN RESCUED AT SUMMER STREET FIRE

More than 200 girls were forced to flee a fire shortly before noon today in the five-story building facing the Old Church Green at the junction of Summer and Bedford streets.

Several of the girls fainted and had to be carried down fire escapes. Many were taken to the street floor in the elevator through penetrating smoke, Edward Ford, the elevator man, risking his life several times to run his car to the upper stories.

A score or more girls formed a sort of human chain on one fire escape when several of their number had refused to pass fierce flames at the windows of the fourth floor.

Practically all the men and girls on the fourth and fifth floors were trapped by the flames and smoke. The corridors were filled with thick smoke, cutting off all egress down the stairways. Many had to grope their way to windows to get to the fire escapes.

THRONG WATCHES RESCUE.

Thousands gathered in Church Green, in Summer and Bedford and nearby streets. It was a big noonday throng, all watching the escapes of girls and men and the rescues and work of the firemen.

The lives of the firemen were endangered by flying glass.

Firemen estimated that the loss would be about $4,000.

On the fourth floor was the Royal Curtain Company. Other concerns in the building were L. J. Hamelberg, hatter; the Artistic Hat Frame Company; Fred Wentworth, hat manufacturer; Louis Jacobs & Sons, hat manufacturers.

The fire was discovered on the fourth floor, on the Summer street side, occupied by the Royal Curtain Company.

GIRLS EXHAUSTED.

Some of the girls were exhausted by the smoke. Among these were Mildred Roberts, Catherine Mills, Anna Schwartz and Miss Wilson.

"When we were passing the fourth story windows on our way down the fire escape some of the girls became frightened at the hot flames we saw inside the building," said one of the girls. "We refused to let the frightened ones go back, so we formed a sort of human chain, locking hands and arms, and dashed down as fast as we could past the fourth floor. That was the only time that we saw any flame, but most of us suffered much from the smoke."

Miss Frances Jacobs, forelady for her father, Louis Jacobs, on the fifth floor, told of the escape of herself and fifteen girls and ten men of whom she had charge.

"The first I knew of the fire was when a boy, John Madden, rushed in shouting: 'The building is on fire.'

"I quietly asked the girls under me to get their coats and hats and leave the building.

"When we reached the hall, the smoke was so thick none dared venture out that way.

"We turned around and left the building by means of a fire escape."

GIRL SAVES BOOKS.

At the alarm, John Joshua, twenty, a janitor in the building, rushed up with a bucket of water. Later he relieved Ford at the elevator and made several trips.

Miss Julia Moses, bookkeeper for the Regal Hat Frame Company on the top floor, before escaping placed her books and cash in the office safe.

The fire was within a stone's throw of the origin of the great Boston fire of 1872.

Steamer Tows Schooner In After Crash

The Clyde line steamer Onondaga, from Jacksonville, Fla., steamed up the harbor today towing the two-masted lumber schooner Franconia of Harrington, Me., with which the Onondaga collided in a fog off Orleans, Cape Cod, last night. The schooner was saved by her lumber cargo from sinking. Captain John Mitchell and his crew of three on the schooner escaped injury.

Captain W. H. Googins of the Onondaga said he heard a fog horn faintly and ordered the liner's speed reduced, but that the crash came a moment later. The liner lammed her nose into the schooner's port side, punching a big hole abreast the mainmast and below the water line.

Etna, Vesuvius and Stromboli All Active

By International News Service.

ROME, Aug. 12.—Mt. Etna, Mt. Vesuvius and Mt. Stromboli have become active and advices from Naples state that clouds of steam and smoke are pouring from the craters and lava is issuing from new fissures. Much apprehension is being caused among the population of Messina, Naples and other towns and cities near the mountains.

French Airmen Drop Bombs on 2 Towns

By International News Service.

BERLIN, Aug. 12.—Replying to the recent German air raid over the British east coast, French airmen attacked Zweibrucken and Sanktingbert killing eight persons today and wounding several others. The damage to property was small. The aviators flew over upper Alsace, coming from Belfort.

Zweibrucken is between fifty and fifty-five miles east of Metz and Sanktingbert is a few miles northwest of Zweibrucken.

Auburndale Boy Drowns in Weston

James Knowles, twelve, of No. 214 Grove street, Auburndale, was drowned today when he fell from a pier at Roberts Pond, Weston, where he was fishing with his brother George. The lad fell into ten feet of water. The body was recovered shortly by employes of a nearby mill.

Made to Throw Her Russian Mail in Sea

By International News Service.

COPENHAGEN, Aug. 12.—The Norwegian mail ship Irlah, bound from Newcastle to Bergen, was held up in the North Sea by a German submarine today and compelled to throw overboard all the Russian mail matter. Then she was allowed to proceed.

PETROGRAD GATEWAY MENACED

By FREDERICK H. WERNER.
Special Correspondent of the International News Service.

BERLIN, Aug. 12.—Although Russian resistance has stiffened as a result of the arrival of reinforcements on the flanks in Courland and southern Poland, the Austro-German advance continues unchecked.

The Russians are strengthening the defences of the gateway to Petrograd, fearing the consequences of the great German sweep.

Optimistic dispatches today from Warsaw say the fall of Kovno may be expected in forty-eight hours. The Germans are said to be shattering the forts with their heavy guns.

Field Marshal von Hindenburg is in personal command of all the Austro-German troops on the line between Riga and the Narew front, his presence indicating the extreme importance attached to the operations in that quarter by the German general staff.

With the Warsaw-Petrograd railway in possession of the Germans at Malkin-Delna, southeast of Ostrow, the Germans have cut off the escape of the Russian forces operating on the lower Bzura, and south of the Bug River from the direction of Wyszkow.

The German army under Prince Leopold of Bavaria that swept eastward from Prasnysz after capturing Warsaw is pressing forward and the Russians who made a stand near Kalwaryn are falling back toward Siedlce.

Fierce attacks are being made against the Russian position commanding the bridge head at Wizna, near the junction of the Narew and Bobr rivers.

The investment of the fortress of Novo Georgievsk continues with unabated violence, attacks being launched from land and air. The Russian defence is reported to be weakening under the vigorous assaults of the Germans.

The occupation of the Warsaw-Petrograd line has put Dvinsk in danger and the Russians maybe compelled to evacuate the city along with the other strongholds against which the Germans are driving in northwestern Russia.

SLAVS STRENGTHEN FORTS COMMANDING GATE TO PETROGRAD

By FRANCIS LAVELLE MURRAY,
Special Correspondent of the International News Service.

PETROGRAD, Aug. 12.—The defences of Pskow and Novgorod, commanding the gateway to Petrograd from the southwest, are being strengthened. Long lines of cement and steel built trenches are being dug.

All the available artillery is being planted along the heights which stretch south of Lake Pskow and along the eastern shores of Ilmen Lake, dominating the Petrograd-Witebsk railway as far south as Dno.

Strong counter attacks are being launched by the Russians all along the line in Poland. In Southern Poland Field Marshal von Mackensen has been checked west of the Bug.

18 Fishermen Lost in Fog Are Rescued

The Boston fishing schooner Mary came to Fish Wharf today with five men aboard of her crew of twenty-three. The rest had been lost in a fog in their dories. Within an hour news was received that other vessels of the fleet had rescued the eighteen.

Renew Reports of Peace Offers by the Kaiser

Boston AMERICAN and London Times Exclusive Cable Service.

MILAN, Aug. 12.—I have learned from a source of exceptional competence in Vatican affairs that Germany has engaged in preliminary overtures to obtain the mediation of the Pope for the discussion of peace on the basis of the restitution of Belgium.

In the overtures, both Germany and Austria manifested great unwillingness to face another Winter campaign.

By International News Service.

PETROGRAD, Aug. 12.—The Novoe Vremya confirms the rumors of German overtures for a separate peace.

It is alleged Germany offered Russia Galicia and the Dardanelles, with a guarantee of the integrity of the frontiers, Germany stipulating for Egypt on the pretext of ceding the same to Turkey, and for a free hand to deal with Russia's allies.

Body of Gardella Found in Merrimac

GLOUCESTER, Aug. 12.—The body of F. A. Gardella, thirty-four, of Haverhill, was found floating in Ipswich Bay about one and one-half miles from Squam Light. The man had been lost from a motor boat in the Merrimac a week ago. Gardella lived at No. 22 Ayer street, Haverhill.

A. B. C. MEN OPPOSE FORCE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—Secretary of War Garrison this afternoon called upon General Tasker H. Bliss, chief of staff of the army, for a complete list of all troops in continental United States available for duty along the Mexican border. This includes all the soldiers in the country except the coast artillery and the engineering forces.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—A distinct difference of opinion exists today between the State Department and the War and Navy Departments over Mexico.

The State Department believes that the "show of force" made by sending the fourth division of the Atlantic fleet to Southern waters and the orders to the entire army in this country and to the rest of the fleet to get ready for possible active service was a mistake.

Its effect has bee to stir up bitter anti-American feeling not alone in Mexico but in certain of the Latin-American countries where the belief now exists that armed intervention to establish a government for Mexico is planned.

Secretary Lansing, who conferred with President Wilson at noon told him that he believed the battleships ordered south should be diverted to an American port, such as Hampton Roads, or at the worst to the naval station at Guantanamo, Cuba.

He also told the President that the trouble in Texis was entirely due to LONDON, Aug. 12.—Frank H. Ramley, famous English artist, died today, aged fifty-eight.

URGE CONGRESS MEET TO BAN ARMS EXPORT

By International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—President Wilson will be urged to call immediately an extra session of Congress to grant authority to place an embargo on munition exports to Europe as a reprisal for interference with American trade.

Southern Senators will make the suggestion. The agitation in England to have cotton declared contraband has angered the cotton men to such an extent that no matter how strong President Wilson makes his contemplated note to England, it will not satisfy them.

The President has accepted the view of Secretary Lansing that an embargo would be a violation of neutrality—although Lansing admits that it would be justified as an act of reprisal—and will endeavor to settle the difficulty with Great Britain entirely through diplomatic channels.

Resolutions adopted by several organizations having headquarters in New York are en route to the White House. They declare England's "illegal attitude" has ruined their business.

MAN ACCUSED OF BURGLARY RISKS BOLD TRY

One of the nerviest attempts on the part of a prisoner to secure his liberty was made early today by a man who claims to be Henry Williams, twenty-three, of South Boston.

Williams and a youth giving the name of Henry Smith, nineteen, of F street, South Boston, were arrested in Harvard square, Cambridge, early today. Each man had a suit case which contained several hundred dollars worth of silk shirts, underwear and wearing apparel.

When accosted by Patrolmen Bourgette and William T. Mullin, they stated they had been staying with a family in North Cambridge for a few days and were leaving for their homes. They did not know the name of the street, but stated that it was a few minutes' walk.

Patrolman Bourgette walked Williams as far as Beech street, which he claimed to recognize as his temporary home. He stopped at No. 19, Mrs. F. H. Hayes was aroused from her bed and Williams greeted her with the familiar remark: "Well, I'm back again a little sooner than I expected." The woman, who did not know the man, was astounded as he continued to tell her how the officer refused to believe that he had been living in her home for a few days. He

Sow Cents Where Dollars Will Grow

In other words, invest in suburban "Real Estate." The population of the Hub increases year after year, and the larger it grows the more people make their homes in the outlying districts.

There are scores of sites, a few miles from the centre of the city, five-cent car line, where you can buy land cheap. Move out there, and bring the children up amid ideal surroundings. Give them a chance to breathe fresh, pure air. Give them a place to play, without danger of their being hurt by cars or vehicles. Give them the foundation of good health, on which to build a sturdy future.

Suburban land in the vicinity of Boston will increase in value. The demand for desirable property grows stronger all the time. Land that once sold for a song is now bringing city prices.

Turn to the "Real Estate" columns of the Boston AMERICAN now. And when you buy this paper next Sunday, look at the "Real Estate" ads in the interesting "Want Ad" Section. The best Real Estate bargains are always to be found in this paper. And remember:

Latin-Americans Oppose Any Armed Intervention in Mexican Affairs.

disappointed bandits and former soldiers who are anxious to rob and murder and that his reports indicated that there was no connection between the fighting there and the Mexican revolution.

Not only was the possibility of armed intervention in Mexico definitely removed before the Latin-American diplomats entered into the recent conferences with Secretary of State Lansing, but it was agreed before hand that there should be no act or design which might mean an interference in the internal affairs of Mexico.

This was the official statement of the Argentine government to General Carranza in reply to his protests, made public by the Carranza agency here today.

President Wilson returned to Washington from his vacation at Cornish, N. H., at 9:35 this morning. He went directly to the White House to confer with Secretary Lansing. It was announced that no Cabinet meeting would be held tomorrow.

It was explained that while the President has returned to keep in touch with the situation, he does not consider the situation so alarming as to require any concerted action.

No precedent will be set with Secretary of War Garrison at once on conditions along the Mexican border. It was announced that Secretary Garrison is completely in charge of the situation, but the President is assured that every step possible be taken to allay danger. He wants the citizens of Texas to feel assured that no harm will come to them.

Individual conferences will be held by the President with members of his cabinet before next Tuesday, when the next regular meeting will be held.

In the meantime the President is hopeful that the result of the Pan-American conferences here and in New York will help clear the situation.

ORDERS UNCHANGED.

"We have no idea at all of sending any more vessels to Southern waters at once than the three already ordered there—the Louisiana, New Hampshire and Connecticut," emphatically declared Secretary of the Navy Daniels today.

He added that the orders for the entire Atlantic fleet to go South for their annual drill had not been changed from August 29. Part of the fleet will go to Boston, August 23, for inspection by the Governors who meet there on that date.

Secretary Daniels stated that he had wired Captain William B. Scott, of the armored cruiser Pueblo at Vera Cruz for a complete report of conditions there. He said a brief report was received last night saying that everything was quiet, but added that definite and complete information is wanted. Captain Scott is expected to reply to-night.

Governor Walsh of Massachusetts asked the Navy Department to send one war vessel to Boston to anchor in the harbor over August 24 when the Governors' conference is held there. He wanted the Governors to visit the ship. Secretary Daniels has ordered that "part of the fleet" will be there August 22 for the Governors to inspect.

The Tennessee, now en route to Haiti with marines, will return to Portsmouth, N. H., as soon as Garrand is completed.

The Connecticut, now in Cape Haitien, will join the fourth division of the Atlantic fleet yesterday ordered to "Southern waters," as soon as the situation in Haiti is cleared sufficiently to allow it to get away. The fleet ship Jupiter sailed from Newport for Vera Cruz this morning.

WITHHOLD NOTE TEXT.

Secretary Lansing today announced that the text of the communication to be sent the warring factions in Mexico will not be given out at this time. He said he expected to confer with President Wilson at noon. The communication will not be sent until after it has been approved by the President.

The Brazilian and Guatemalan Ministers to Mexico and their families are on board the gunboat Sacramento, on their way to New Orleans, the State Department announced today. The Sacramento left Vera Cruz at 5 o'clock last night.

General Funston notified the war department today that he had sent another battalion of the Ninth Infantry from Laredo, Texas, to Brownsville, in order to better protect that section.

Zapatistas blew up a passenger train in the northern part of the State of Vera Cruz, killing fifty passengers, General Carranza today cabled to his agency here to deny all reports that foreigners are in danger in Vera Cruz and other parts of Mexico by his forces. Carranza stated that he would afford full and ample protection to all foreigners, whatever their nationality, and that reports that their lives were in danger were lies.

SUPPORT CARRANZA.

Secretary Lansing, returning from New York soon after midnight, worked far into the early morning on a report to be presented to President Wilson later in the day.

This report recited the attitude of the South American diplomats as revealed at yesterday's conference in New York. It emphasized the opposition of these men to this country's armed intervention in Mexico. It also revealed that Carranza, despite his open defiance of the plan conference, has the support of the Latin-Americans.

Secretary Garrison still waits a request from General Funston before starting the remainder of the regular army now in this country to the Texas line. Fourteen thousand more troops are available, but he believes that for the present at least he can control the situation with the material at hand.

Texas officials, however, are bringing pressure on the administration for more soldiers. The Governor, Senators, Representatives and State officials all have wired the White House and the War Department pleading for more soldiers and describing the situation as grave. To allay their fears Hiram Funston will be reinforced anshow.

SURPRISED AT REPORT.

Funston's report that the various bands of raiders at opportunity are working along similar lines, with the intention of endeavoring to seize the entire Rio Grande territory, have surprised officials. It is believed that the conspiracy with that object in view was stamped out more than a year ago. It is realized that there is an enormous Mexican population all along the border of Texas, New Mexico and California, and if its male members are parties to a general "oath bound plot," as Funston has been told by some of his prisoners, drastic action may be necessary.

The appeal to the various factional leaders in Mexico to compose their differences, which was decided on at yesterday's conference, was to be considered by the President today.

As soon as it was completed the program was for copies of it to be transmitted all of the leader of the Mexican factions, governors of all States and the Mexican people generally.

"The "request" to get together was made in the "friendliest spirit of friend," the Mexicans were told, and all parties to the conferences were hopeful of emphasizing their desire to peaceable, not force.

The Latin-Americans were declared to be hopeful of influencing Carranza, despite his open attitude of defiance. It was explained that they considered a great part of his public utterances were for "home consumption" and certain sections of them, it was stated, reflected a different meaning when considered in the original Spanish.

WAIT IN NEW YORK.

Several of the Pan-American diplomats waited in New York, subject to the call of the State Department to sign the note agreed upon to the conditions in Mexico.

When the meeting in New York adjourned, Secretary Lansing told the Pan-Americans he would call them together again to sign the note which he would draft. He also informed them there would be other meetings when replies have been received from Carranza and the other Mexican faction leaders to whom the note will be sent.

The Secretary said he did not know when and where these meetings would be held, but he requested the diplomats not to leave Washington homes not far from New York, and to themselves in readiness to meet him again on short notice.

300 MEXICANS CROSS LINE; TEXAS GOVERNOR ASKS AID OF WILSON

By International News Service.

HOUSTON, Tex., Aug. 12.—Governor Ferguson of Texas has telegraphed to President Wilson asking him to double the number of federal troops now on duty in the Rio Grande valley. He says conditions are "now perilous and grave."

News was received by the G. H. & S. A. Railroad that a bridge at Watkins, Texas, east of El Paso, had been burned by Mexican soldiers from the Carranza garrison across the line.

Three hundred Mexican soldiers in uniform crossed the line near Langtry and set fire to the big overhead bridge. Later, when the section crew was repairing the bridge, two Mexican guards attempted to interfere. The band then returned to Mexico.

The destruction of the bridge would prevent troop movements from Fort Bliss and Fort Sam Houston.

Virtually every American citizen in the three southernmost counties of Texas—Cameron, Hidalgo and Starr—is preparing under arms today in fear that the overwhelming Mexican population of the section may break out in a racial fight.

The Mexican disturbance spread rapidly westward, until rumors of trouble developed at Laredo.

EDITH DEACON APPEALS FOR WAR FUND

Miss Edith Deacon, the youngest of the famous Deacon sisters, Boston's "Three Graces," is back from the front where she has been with ambulance trains and relief parties and today through the newspapers asks for help in relieving distressed Italian women and children war sufferers.

From the Copley-Plaza, Miss Deacon makes the following appeal:

"I am making an appeal on behalf of the Paroisse Relief Fund, the purpose of which is to relieve the distress of the women and children of the soldiers called to the colors among the hill districts of Italy.

"In the village where I live, Palazzo Fartone, the war has indeed shown its brutal hand. For there 700 men were called in the first week of the war, leaving behind wives, many of them with young babies, almost destitute. The distress soon became terrible. These towns are mainly agricultural and the only salvation for the women was in continuing the pursuits of their husbands."

Miss Deacon is the daughter of the late Edward Parker Deacon of Boston. She was formerly one of the well known society girls in the city. Of late years she has been much abroad. Her sister Josephine Deacon (Princess Radziwill) and Gladys Deacon.

Two years ago she became engaged to George Lee Peabody, who died before the wedding day. His death it is said the Peabodys settled a large income on Miss Deacon. Last Fall she was one of the Americans who helped organize the American ambulance corps now in France. Harry Whitney Wipter she was repeatedly reported on the firing line caring for the wounded after the arrived here on July 25, exhausted from her work. Since then she has been at the Copley-Plaza.

The suit is a "friendly" one, brought by Charles Dan, inspector of the state board of labor and industries. Representing the telephone company is Ig Vice-president, E. K. Hall of Newton.

The specific case considered is that of Esther Hamblett. Her hours are from 7 p. m. until 7 a. m., but she sleeps in a sidecroom "on call" from midnight to 6 a. m.

MARINES QUELL NEW DISORDER IN HAITI

By International News Service.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 12—American marines were called upon yesterday to put down disorder in Port au Prince, Haiti, Admiral Capperton advised the Navy Department today. No mention of casualties was made.

The United States intends to control the Haitien customs revenues until the government of the "Black Republic" is put upon a stable basis. Rear Admiral Caperton has been directed to so inform the Haitiens.

Relief for Catarrh Sufferers Now FREE

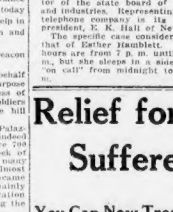
You Can Now Treat This Trouble in Your Own Home and Get Relief at Once.

How the Remedy for Catarrh Was Discovered.

THIS terrible disease has raged unchecked for years simply because symptoms have been treated while the cause of the trouble has been left to circulate in the blood, and bring the disease back as fast as local treatments could relieve it.

C. E. Gauss, who experimented for years on a treatment for Catarrh, found that after perfecting a balm that relieved the nose and throat their troubles quickly, he could not prevent the trouble beginning all over again.

On test cases, he could completely remove all signs of Catarrh from nose and throat, but in a few weeks they were back.



By the new method the nose and throat are treated at once by effective local vapors carried directly to the affected membranes.

The Elixir, taken into the stomach, has a direct influence upon the mucous membranes of the body and carry the disease by removing the cause.

Careful experiments and investigations have shown that as the troubles were expelled from the nose and throat, the real cause of the disease was overlooked, and in a short time the Catarrh would return stronger than ever. Mr. Gauss has gone way ahead of the ordinary methods of treatment and has provided a remedy that

Removes the Cause

and Immediately Gives Relief to the Nose and Throat

Reese Jones, of Scranton, Penn., says that after trying many other treatments, he used this new method and—"My nose is now entirely clear and free and I am not bothered by the disease any more. The New Combined Treatment is worth its weight in gold."

Temporary relief from catarrh may be obtained in other ways, but the New Combined Treatment must instead be accepted for permanent results.

Sarah J. Case, Mount Pelia, Tenn., says, "I suffered the pains and distress of catarrh for thirteen years and needless to state, tried nearly every method. But by your new method I was amazingly cured and you cannot imagine the joy that has come over me."

Fire Captain Hurt; Guests Stay in Cafe with Fire Overhead

Captain Avery Howard of Engine 26 was painfully cut on the right hand while fighting a blaze in the rooms of the Boston School of Telegraphy, at No. 657 Washington street.

With the fire raging overhead, the guests in the Boylston Cafe, in the basement of the building, remained at their tables, while the orchestra played the latest jazz.

The fire broke out on the Boylston Place side of the building. When the first companies arrived the flames were rolling from the side windows. Captain Howard and crew took a line up the front stairs. Just as they reached the door of the room where the fire could be seen the glass panel was blown out hitting Howard. He remained until he saw that the fire was under control, and then left the building to have his wounds dressed. Fire officials estimate the damage at $1,000.

Home Furnishers Have Day at Shore

The tenth annual midsummer outing of the Home Furnishers' Association of Massachusetts was held yesterday at Hull, with an attendance of more than 150 members and their friends. A banquet was served at Pemberton Inn and the principal speaker was Postmaster William F. Garvey, who told of improvements in the postal service. Other speakers were Daniel B. H. Power of Lynn, who acted as toastmaster, and F. T. A. McLeod, president of the association. The diners were entertained by varabet performers from Paragon Park. After dinner the party went to the swimming tank, where spirited tub races and bowling ball contests were held. Joseph Scheinfain was awarded the first prize, a silver cup, in the tub race, and Joseph Dempsey, who came in second, was given an imported stein. Other prizes awarded were: Floating ball contest, Joseph Dempsey, first; John H. Clarkson, second; blowing contest, J. A. Singer, first; Richard M. Sharkey, second. Pipe and tobacco race, William J. Gove, first; Richard M. Sharkey, second.

Don't Poison Baby.

FORTY YEARS AGO almost every mother thought her child must have PAREGORIC or laudanum to make it sleep. These drugs will produce sleep, and A FEW DROPS TOO MANY will produce the SLEEP FROM WHICH THERE IS NO WAKING. Many are the children who have been killed or whose health has been ruined for life by paregoric, laudanum and morphine, each of which is a narcotic product of opium. Druggists are prohibited from selling either of the narcotics named to children at all, or to anybody without labelling them "poison." The definition of "narcotic" is: "A medicine which relieves pain and produces sleep, but which in poisonous doses produces stupor, coma, convulsions and death." The taste and smell of medicines containing opium are disguised, and sold under the names of "Drops," "Cordials," "Soothing Syrups," etc. You should not permit any medicine to be given to your children without you or your physician know of what it is composed. CASTORIA DOES NOT CONTAIN NARCOTICS, if it bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

Letters from Prominent Physicians addressed to Chas. H. Fletcher.

Dr. J. W. Dinsdale, of Chicago, Ill., says: "I use your Castoria and advise its use in all families where there are children."

Dr. Alexander E. Mintie, of Cleveland, Ohio, says: "I have frequently prescribed your Castoria and have found it a reliable and pleasant remedy for children."

Dr. Agnes V. Swetland, of Omaha, Nebr., says: "Your Castoria is the best remedy in the world for children and the only one I use and recommend."

Dr. J. A. McClellan, of Buffalo, N. Y., says: "I have frequently prescribed your Castoria for children and always got good results. In fact I use Castoria for my own children."

Dr. J. W. Allen, of St. Louis, Mo., says: "I heartily endorse your Castoria. I have frequently prescribed it in my medical practice, and have always found it to do all that is claimed for it."

Dr. C. H. Glidden, of St. Paul, Minn., says: "My experience as a practitioner with your Castoria has been highly satisfactory, and I consider it an excellent remedy for the young."

Dr. H. D. Benner, of Philadelphia, Pa., says: "I have used your Castoria as a purgative in the cases of children for years past with the most happy effect, and fully endorse it as a safe remedy."

Dr. J. A. Boarman, of Kansas City, Mo., says: "Your Castoria is a splendid remedy for children, know the world over. I use it in my practice and have no hesitancy in recommending it for the complaints of infants and children."

Dr. J. J. Mackey, of Brooklyn, N. Y., says: "I consider your Castoria an excellent preparation for children, being composed of reliable medicines and pleasant to the taste. A good remedy for all disturbances of the digestive organs."

HUNT 2 WOMEN IN GUIDONE MYSTERY

By International News Service.

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—The search for Elvira Dolores Guidone, the Hartford girl, who mysteriously disappeared turned today to the theatrical district, where she had a number of friends. Detectives are searching boarding houses in the Tenderloin district and making extensive inquiries in the belief she may be found there.

This move was made following the discovery by Detective Lieutenant Williams and Detective Reynolds that the girl probably arrived in New York on the same train she boarded at Hartford, and that she was met at Grand Central Station by two well-dressed women.

The conductor of the train, in whose charge she was placed by her father, Dr. Raphael Guidone, has reported to the police that when she told her the Guidones lived in Forty-fifth Street Station had been reached, following Dr. Guidone's instructions, she replied that she had changed her mind and would go on to Grand Central Station.

He paid no more attention to her until the station was reached. Then he placed her in charge of a porter, who carried her bag to the waiting room. There, said the porter, she was met by the two women, whom she seemed to know well.

The theory of John Guidone, the girl's brother, is that the women were agents people whom she met while the Guidones were living in Bridgeport a year ago. These women, whose addresses he could not remember, had several times urged Dolores to visit them here, but Dr. Guidone would not consent.

The brother believes that she, in a spirit of mischief, consented to spend the day with the women and that now she is being kept in ignorance of the search that is being made for her.

Again Fire Woburn Barn.

A third attempt was made to burn the barn on the estate of Dr. Choate Memorial Hospital on Warren avenue. The blaze was discovered by a nurse

STOP SALISBURY BEACH FIRE BY NEW SERVICE

SALISBURY BEACH, Aug. 12.—The high-pressure fire service, completed only a week ago, saved beach-front property today from threatened heavy loss in a fire which destroyed one cottage and damaged another.

The fire started in the kitchen of the Harbor View cottage at the south end of the beach, owned by Joseph Fredette of Haverhill. One side of the double structure was occupied by David Hicker and family of Haverhill. The flames destroyed the Harbor View and attacked the Mistletoe cottage next door, a one-family structure owned and occupied by George Taylor of Haverhill.

Just as cottagers next beyond the fire were hurrying goods out on the beach a trolley car loaded with hose lines from the beach centre, three mile north, arrived. The hose was coupled to the new hydrants. The high pressure streams checked the flames at the Mistletoe cottage. Property owners and renters along the beach said that only the new water system prevented a repetition of the big fire of two seasons ago.

The total loss is estimated by beach property experts at $4,000.

Forgives Daughter Who Threw Lamp

Mrs. Sarah Tierney of No. 30 Middle street, South Boston, was in court today, charged with assault and battery on her seventy-eight-year-old father, Patrick Clancy. The old man told the court that while in bed Monday evening, his daughter threw a lighted lamp at him after a request to her to stop making noise. The bed was ignited and the aged man was severely burned. Today in court the aged man asked that his daughter, on account of six five children, be placed on probation, and Judge Logan consented, after giving Mrs. Tierney a serious talking to.

Fires in Adjoining Dorchester Homes

Fires of unknown cause were discovered early today in two adjoining buildings on Richfield street, Dorchester, by John Bohan, a fireman attached to Engine 18. The flames were extinguished before doing much damage. One fire was under the front steps of the three-story wooden dwelling at No. 68 Richfield street, owned by Fred Rowell and occupied on the first floor by John Hurley. The other was in a pile of rubbish in the basement of the vacant house at No. 66 Richfield street.

$600,000 Yacht's Fate May Solve Edison Problem

A six hundred thousand dollar experiment by Alexander S. Cochrane may solve the problem of storage batteries for submarines, according to a statement credited to Thomas A. Edison in New York dispatches today.

Mr. Cochrane's yacht, the "Sea Call," built at a cost of $600,000 at Lawley's ship yards, Neponset, is being broken up because the salt water by electrolysis ate into the monel metal plates of her hull so swiftly that even a short cruise would have meant her destruction.

Mr. Edison commented:

"This rapid electrolysis is remarkable and may lead to something very great in our work of perfecting the storage batteries for submarines and other machines.

"It may be that the 'electrical couple, which I have been seeking for years has been discovered."

ITALIANS HOLD ALL ADVANCED POSITIONS ON CADORE FRONT

ROME, Aug. 12.—The repulse of numerous attacks by the Austrians is reported in an official statement from the Italian war office today. Artillery is playing an important part in the fighting everywhere. The official report follows:

"In Cadore, while our artillery continues to operate against powerful defensive works in the upper valleys, movable units are relentlessly before the enemy tried by frequent but vain attacks to throw us back from some of our conquests.

"On August 8 our troops repulsed an attack in the sexten valley against Monte Del Rimbalzo and an advance of the enemy to the north of Frickofel.

"In Carnia our artillery has bombarded the enemy very heavily. The enemy tried unsuccessfully to place movable guns in embrasures before the enemy tried by frequent but vain our trenches on Monte Medatta.

EDIZIONE ITALIANA
BOSTON AMERICAN

BOSTON, 12 AGOSTO, 1915 — VOL. 1, NO. 14

Progressi su tutto il fronte.

Il Papa per la pace

Roma, Sonnino si ritirerà in Roma. Sonnino si ritirerà a deliberando di far da mediatore supremo per la pace, e considera anche di celebrare un congresso della Chiesa in Roma.

Il Papa, si dice, prolifera ai rappresentanti delle Chiese cattoliche di tutte le nazioni nelle occasioni in guerra, sotto pena di scomunica, di recitar preghiere per la vittoria, di omaggiar Benedizione per i combattenti e anche di amministrare i sacramenti a coloro che sono responsabili della scomunica. Questo della scomunica è uno dello scandalo.

Lo stesso giornale dice di essere informato che il Papa ha fatto un appello personale al Presidente degli Stati Uniti, al presidente della Svizzera, alle repubbliche di America, al re di Spagna e alle nazioni scandinave, nella speranza di ottenere un atteggiamento pacifico nelle discussioni per la pace.

Roma, 11 agosto.—Un eforà austriaci per riprendere le nostre posizioni sul Cadore, non sono riusciti a nulla. Il mese agosto noi respingemmo un attacco contro monte Rimbianco e avanzammo su Schiefel.

Sulle Carniche il duello d'artiglieria si spiega su tutto il fronte.

IL COMUNICATO UFFICIALE ITALIANO AGGIUNGE:

"Stamattina due cacciatorpediniere Austriache bombardarono Bari, Santo Spirito e Molfetta. Un cittadino fu ucciso e sette furono feriti. I danni materiali non furono importanti.

COMPIE IL SUO DOVERE.

Il Signor Bosco Camuso, del 141½ Prince street, Boston, partirà per l'Italia arruolandosi alla chiamata alle armi rendere così tributo alla Patria.

Sottomarino Affondato

ROMA, 11 Agosto.—È stato ufficialmente annunciato che il sottomarino Austriaco U-12 è stato silurato ed affondato da un sottomarino Italiano, nel mare Adriatico. Tutta la ciurma perì.

IL COMUNICATO UFFICIALE ITALIANO AGGIUNGE:

HARD FIGHTING TO THE WEST OF VERDUN

By FRANKLIN P. MERRICK.
Special Correspondent of the International News Service.

PARIS, Aug. 12.—Hard fighting is reported along the centre and right of the battle front, in an official communique issued by the French War Office today.

The German army of the Crown Prince is still on the offensive in the Argonne in an effort to get hold of the Bixes of communication into Verdun from the west. Artillery duels are occurring in Artois, north of Arras.

Two Bavarian regiments were annihilated in the recent fighting near Thann, in upper Alsace, according to information received today from Muelhausen. So great was the bombardment at Muelhausen is so intense that the thunder of guns could be heard twenty miles away. Dornach, a suburb of Muelhausen, has been evacuated by the Germans.

A flotilla of German destroyers, making a dash from Ostend, tried to attack the French troopship boats patrolling the coast, but were driven back by the hot fire of the allies' land batteries.

The text of the official statement follows:

"In Artois, heavy artillery duels and combats with hand grenades have taken place, practically around Souchez.

"Near Fontaine Aux Charmes and Marie Therese in the Argonne, the Germans attacked our trenches twice last night; both assaults were repulsed.

"In the forest of Leprette there has been a very lively engagement with hand grenades, the fighting proceeding from trench to trench.

"At Lingekopf, in the Vosges, a counter attack of the enemy was repulsed after a severe struggle, in which hand grenades were used.

"There is nothing to report from the balance of the front."

GERMANS RUSHING REINFORCEMENTS TO MEET BRITISH ATTACK

By BERNARD BELLANCOURT.
Special Correspondent of the International News Service.

AMSTERDAM, Aug. 12.—Preparations are being made by the Germans in West Flanders to meet another offensive movement by the British east of Ypres. Since the battle at Hooge, which resulted in extensive gains for the English, the Germans have been pouring heavy reinforcements into the region east of Ypres and north along the Yser.

French Admit Losses in Argonne Region

PARIS, Aug. 12.—Desperate fighting in the Argonne region is reported. The Germans have used many asphyxiating shells. The Germans succeeded in penetrating the French positions, but a counter attack resulted in their being driven out from most of them, a portion of the French first line trenches, however, remaining in their possession.

Artillery fighting continues around Arras, Vicinity, Commandants is taking place in the forest of La Pretre and in the Vosges at Linge and Hilsenfirst.

KEY TO BALKAN ACTION HELD BY SERBIA

By HERBERT TEMPLE.
Special Correspondent of the International News Service.

LONDON, Aug. 12.—The Serbian Parliament has been summoned to meet in Nish on Monday and upon its session may depend the future course of Bulgaria. Representations have been made to Servia, Montenegro, Bulgaria, Roumania and Greece for the renewal of the Balkan league, and this question will be considered.

It is reported that the Servian government has decided upon terms to insure the friendship of Bulgaria to the allies and these must be ratified by the Servian Parliament. These terms include the cession of territory to Bulgaria, in return for cash to be paid by the Triple Entente powers.

Greece is still the unknown factor in the Balkan situation. The Venizelos party is disposed to renew the Balkan league and to throw the strength of Greece on the side of the allies, but this is being combatted by the very strong German influences at Athens.

Roumania's course will undoubtedly be dictated by the action taken by Bulgaria and Greece.

That the Germans are looking to their Russian campaign to overawe the Balkan states now enjoying peace is evident. Russia has always been a powerful factor in Balkan affairs, and has acted for the past half dozen years as the godfather for Serbia. Russia backed Serbia against Austria and supplied the little Balkan kingdom with arms and ammunition during both Balkan wars.

Germany feels that, by crushing Russia, she could at least keep Bulgaria and Roumania neutral.

Aid for Animals Cut Off by War

LONDON, Aug. 12.—The London commissioner of police has issued new regulations by which no persons will be permitted to collect funds for dog, cat and horse societies. The old class of collectors has thrived greatly since the beginning of the war.

Submarines Sink Three Fishing Boats

By International News Service.

LONDON, Aug. 12.—The British fishing smacks Ocean Gift, Esperant and George Borrow have been destroyed by German submarines. The crews were landed today.

Liggett Razor Strop 87c

Made of a specially treated leather by a secret process, the leather-part extending through the butter.

The Liggett Razor Strop can, as all should be, washed occasionally. To free it from dirt and dust, as dirt or dust on a razor strop will dull takes the edge off the razor. The more you wash a Liggett Razor Strop, the better it gets.

Dressing, emery, or so called "razor sharpening" are not necessary with a Liggett Strop. These sharpening qualities are contained in the leather itself. To merely hold the strop straight and draw the razor from heel to point, shave back and forth—no less edge to the result.

THE SCARLET D

By HOWARD NOBLE

THE ANTI-SALOON or ANTI-SANITY LEAGUE (the terms are interchangeable) would do well to hark back to their Puritanic prototypes for a lesson in practical temperance. The modern Roundheads are not running true to form, because the Puritans, with all their grim determination to suppress the liberties of the individual, never attempted to prohibit by legislative enactment the sale and proper use of alcoholic liquors.

They did pass prohibition laws against "the Creature called Tobacko," and they failed signally, just as Maine, Kansas and all the other so-called prohibition states have since failed in their efforts to prevent the sale and use of liquor.

Intolerant though they were, the Puritans nevertheless were fair enough to recognize that man has the God-given right to partake of such food and drink as please him. Their treatment of the liquor question—for they had one in those days—forms a bright spot in their dun-colored, law-ridden era.

Despite their austerities, the Puritans were well-nigh universal drinkers. They knew all the secrets of the brewing art known to England, and as soon as they landed here they began to brew malt liquors. Brewing, in those days, was a part of every housewife's training just as were spinning and weaving. The first public brewhouse was built in 1637. One of the early acts of the Massachusetts General Court commands that all tavern-keepers should always be provided with good and wholesome beer for the entertainment of strangers.

A close connection existed between the tavern and the meeting-house in those days, as witness an act of 1651 granting permission to a certain Boston man to keep a tavern "provided hee keepe it neare the new meeting house." This juxtaposition of the spiritual and the spirituous was quite general in olden days. The meeting-house was devoid of any heating system, and after the preacher had exhorted for hours to an audience blue with the cold, the worshipers were wont to invade the tavern en masse to fortify themselves against a similar session in the afternoon. The Puritan was a social creature, in his dour way, and these tavern noonings on the Lord's Day, largely, it must be confessed, because of the quantities of flip, punch and mulled ale consumed, were occasions of real enjoyment. In the earliest days, the ecclesiastical authorities were accustomed to meet at the tavern to regulate affairs of the parish. Church services were often held in the taproom of the tavern in communities where there was no meeting-house.

While the Puritans never attempted to prohibit the sale or proper use of liquors, they did pass prohibition laws against tobacco, but in some instances small quantities were permitted, as one of the old laws quaintly states, "for meere necessitie, for phisick, for preservaceon of the health, the same to be taken privately by auncient men." The health of many must have suffered for the want of tobacco, because its use grew apace with every renewed effort to suppress it; and the law-makers sensibly resorted to regulation in place of prohibition.

Although as a class the Puritans were temperate, the problem of drunkenness nevertheless arose. This they met in two ways—first, by licensing all places where liquors were sold, holding the licensees strictly accountable; and, second, by appointing tithingmen whose duty it was to visit the taverns and personally restrain patrons who, in their opinion, had drunk enough.

Landlords were forbidden to allow anyone to drink to excess, which was at one time defined as more than half a pint of wine at a sitting, but there appears to have been no limit placed on beer or ale.

Everyone found drunk was fined. In some instances the offender was compelled to wear a scarlet letter D upon his breast. In extreme cases he was set in the stocks and whipped. The names of common drunkards were given to each landlord, who lost his license and was besides heavily fined if convicted of serving such persons. No liquor might be sold to the "devilish bloudy salvages." In spite of the custom of drinking healths was forbidden, but the act was repealed six years later.

The tithingmen, or tavern spies, made themselves so obnoxious by their constant meddling that this form of regulation fell into disrepute. As the Colony grew and broadened in sentiment, the fathers came to rely more upon the licensing power and less upon the officious supervision of the deacons, constables and tithingmen. On the whole, the Puritans succeeded very well in regulating the liquor traffic. Massachusetts was temperate, industrious, a leader among the colonies; just as today, under a wise high-license system, which is a logical growth of the old Puritan legislation, she is a leader among the States in all that makes for moral, political and material advancement.

"Because his brain was starving his body from over-activity, I prescribed Bread and Beer for Mr. E. H. Harriman to give him added energy, build tissues and give him nerve strength."

WOOD ACCUSED BY CARMEN IN HOLYOKE

HOLYOKE, Aug. 12.—At a public hearing today called by Commissioner Charles Wood of the State Board of Arbitration, J. M. Reardon, international vice president of the Carmen's Union and in charge of the local trolley strike, said he would prefer charges to Governor Walsh against Commissioner Wood and that he would refuse to treat with the State Board as long as Mr. Wood remained on it.

After a conference with Mayor Woods, Mr. Reardon agreed to reduce one more to the union the arbitration offer which Commissioner Wood made yesterday and which the union rejected.

HOW TO GET RID OF DANDRUFF

This Home Made Mixture Removes Dandruff and Stops the Hair From Falling Out.

The following simple recipe, which can be mixed at home or put up by any druggist, will quickly remove dandruff and stop the hair from falling out.

To a half pint of water add 1 oz. of bay rum, 1 small box of Barbo Compound, and ¼ oz. of glycerine. These are all simple ingredients that you can buy from any druggist at very little cost, and mix them yourself. Apply to the scalp once a day for two weeks, then once every other week until the mixture is used. A half pint should be enough to rid the head of dandruff and kill the dandruff germs. It stops the hair from falling out, and relieves itching and scalp disease.

Although it is not a dye, it acts upon the hair roots and will darken streaked, faded, gray hair in ten or fifteen days. It promotes the growth of the hair and makes harsh hair soft and glossy.

PICKERING, 67, WINS PLACE AT CAMP

PLATTSBURG, N. Y., Aug. 12.—A Boston graybeard at the federal military camp here is becoming a rival of Mayor Mitchel of New York, "Teddy" Roosevelt, Jr., and others of national fame, in the way of attracting attention.

It is because of his years, his gameness and the way he wouldn't take "No" to his demand that he be allowed to take the month of military training.

The Boston graybeard is J. Winthrop Pickering. He is a lawyer. He lives on Common street in Charlestown, and he is only sixty-seven.

"I wanted one member of my family to be represented in this citizen training and there wasn't anybody else but myself to do it. So here I am."

That's Mr. Pickering's simple reason for being here with men of half his age or less, beginning strenuous life in a military camp. He is the Nestor of the Boston contingent and, if the other men from the Hub don't look to their laurels, he may get more notice than the rest.

PICKERING SHOWS "PEP."

Captain Johnston, in charge of the camp, advised Mr. Pickering not to try to remain here. Mr. Pickering insisted. Major-General Wood was nearby, ready to take a train to New York. Mr. Pickering breezed up to the Major-General and gave him such a clever line of talk that the latter said: "All right. Let him stay."

An Jubilant as a boy, the octogenarian trotted back to his company and prepared himself a tent in C street for night sleeping. He was up promptly when reveille was sounded at 5 a. m. today, showing as much "pep" as the juniors.

With the confusion incidental to their organization quickly over, the thousand odd business men encamped here today settled down to business. The Boston contingent of 287 men, including many of social or financial prominence, is widely divided among the eight organized companies.

GUN COMPANY ARRIVES.

The machine gun company, to which Percy D. Haughton, the Harvard coach, is attached, will begin practice today, its arrival having been delayed by bad roads. The company, which was financed and organized in New York, is equipped with an "armored car," the only one in camp.

Several of the camp streets have already earned nicknames. Company D street is known as "millionaires' row." It includes more wealthy "rookies" than any other street in camp. Boutonians in the company are George H. Morrison, dean of the contingent; F. L. Spalding, president of the telephone company, and Julian Codman. They are "bunkies" of Hamilton Fish, "Ollie" Iselin and Lewis S. Chanler, ex-Lieutenant-Governor of New York.

J. L. Saltonstall and R. H. Garceloh, Jr., are company mates of Nelson O'Shaughnessy and Dudley F. Malone, Assistant District Attorney Thomas D. Lavelle is a "baggage smasher" in Company H.

Drawn by MARCEAU

AWAIT ANSWER TO DEMAND AT BRIDGEPORT

By International News Service.

BRIDGEPORT, Ct., Aug. 12.—There was an air of subdued activity in labor circles today, awaiting announcement of the answer made by the Locomobile Company of America to demands of its 4,000 employes for an eight-hour day. If an answer is not forthcoming during the day, the union leaders will address the employes tonight and make public the position of the company.

Vice-President Johnson of the International Machinists Association was at work today on the demand to be made on the American and British Manufacturing Company, probably tomorrow.

The walk out of seventy machinists at the plant of the Lake Torpedo Boat Company yesterday is causing little stir.

TO PUT ON FLESH AND INCREASE WEIGHT

"Gee, look at that pair of skinny scarecrows, why don't they try Sargol?"

"Sargol has put just 10 pounds on me in 14 days," states W. D. Roberts. "It has made me sleep well, enjoy what I ate and enabled me to work with interest and pleasure."

"I was all run down to the very bottom," writes F. Gagnon. "I had to quit work I was so weak. Now, thanks to Sargol, I look like a new man. I gained 22 pounds in 23 days."

"I weighed 142 pounds when I commenced taking Sargol. After taking 20 days I weighed 144 pounds. Sargol is the most wonderful preparation for flesh building I have ever seen," declares D. Martin; and N. D. Sanderson adds: "When I started Sargol I weighed 147 lbs. and now I weigh 160 lbs. Everybody is telling me how fat you have got in the last month."

When hundreds of men and women—and there are hundreds, with more coming every day—living in every nook and corner of this broad land voluntarily testify to weight increases ranging all the way from 10 to 35 pounds given them by Sargol, you must admit, Mr. and Mrs. and Miss Thin Reader, that there must be something in this Sargol method of flesh building after all.

Hadn't you better look into it, just as thousands of others have done? Many thin folks say: "I'd give most anything to put on a little extra weight," but when someone suggests a way they exclaim, "Not a chance! Nothing will make me plump! I'm built to stay thin!" Until you have tried Sargol, you do not and cannot know that this is true.

Sargol has put pounds of healthy "stay there" flesh on hundreds who doubted, and in spite of their doubts. You don't have to believe in Sargol to grow plump from its use. You just try it and see if your weight does not pile up, hollows vanish and your figure round out to pleasing normal proportions. Let us weigh yourself when you begin and again when you finish and you let the scales tell the story.

Sargol is just a tiny concentrated tablet. You take Sargol with your meal. It mixes with the food you eat for the purpose of separating all of its flesh producing ingredients, and prepares these fat-making elements in a easily assimilated form, which the blood can readily absorb and carry all over your body. Plump, well-developed persons don't need Sargol to produce this result. Their assimilative machinery performs its functions without aid. But thin folks' assimilative organs do not. This fatty portion of their food now goes to waste through their bodies like unburned coal through an open grate. A few days' use will prove whether or not this is true of you. Isn't it worth trying?

If you want a beautiful and well-rounded figure of symmetrical proportions, if you want to gain some solid pounds of healthy sty-there flesh, if you want to increase your weight to normal, weigh what you should weigh, go straight to your druggist today and get a package of Sargol and try it as directed. Sargol will either increase your weight or it won't, and the only way to know is to try it. A single package of Sargol easily enables you to make this test. Sixty days' use of Sargol, according to directions, is absolutely guaranteed to increase your weight to a satisfactory degree or your druggist will refund all the money you have paid him for it. Sargol is sold by leading druggists everywhere.

SARGOL THE FLESH BUILDER

Rudolph and Alec in Opening Battle

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 12—Dick Rudolph reached Philadelphia last night and Manager Stallings arrives with his Pepper Boys late this evening. The advance sale for the series between the Phillies and Braves, which opens tomorrow, is the heaviest in the history of the Philadelphia (National League) Club, state Secretary Shettsline. Saturday's turnout is almost bound to prove a record-breaker. The Phillies are home from the West and Manager Moran states he will use Alexander tomorrow and again on Monday, in all probability. Rudolph is to face Graver tomorrow.

SIDELIGHTS on SPORTS By A. H. C. Mitchell

"SHOW me your ten-cent seats," facetiously remarked Harry Sinclair, the Oklahoma oil king, to Mr. Gaffney as the Federal League magnates entered the Braves' park yesterday on a tour of inspection.

Mr. Sinclair is president of the Newark (Federal League) club, and is one of the financial powers behind the new baseball organization. He is a medium sized, pleasant (and smooth) faced man and looks as though he would be a dangerous proposition to play poker with, that is to say, he looks as though he could play a mighty good game of poker for big stakes.

MR. SINCLAIR, in order to show that he had money to spend in the Federal League venture recently (it is reported) made the following offer:

"I will go out in a boat beyond the three-mile limit with the sixteen owners of the American and National League clubs and throw dollars overboard with them; and for every dollar they throw overboard I will throw two dollars."

Mr. Sinclair doubtless desires to impress upon the magnates of Organized Ball that he has the nerve to go through with any proposition he tackles.

WHAT might be called the General Staff of the Federal League has decided to play "tennent ball." That is to say the general admission to the bleachers at their parks will cost a dime; seats in the covered stands will cost a quarter; those in the grandstand a half and box seats one plunk.

In talking with them yesterday they told me that they believed they would make a big success of it) that they would fill their parks every day.

Of course, if they do fill their parks every day, they will make money, despite the reduced prices. But will they?

MR. SINCLAIR had to laugh, however, at the way things work out under the new scale of prices. He said that the other day there was a double-header at Newark and that it was Ladies' Day" at the same time; that is to say, ladies, accompanied by escorts, were admitted free. A man brought his wife to see the double-header and paid ten cents for admission to the bleachers. Thus for a dime, two persons saw two games of ball —which is an average of two and one-half cents per game per person.

I think we all breathe easier when the Red Sox gain a lap on their nearest rivals in the American League race. The results of yesterday's games gives Our Boys quite a boost. To be sure the White Sox won, but as the Red Sox won twice they put another half-game between them. They now have it over the Chicagoans by four full games.

THERE is far more satisfaction to be derived, however, over the defeat of the Tigers at the hands of the Senators. Jennings' crew was altogether too close for comfort. The Tigers were only a game behind Boston up to time of play, but now the Red Sox have an advantage of two and one-half games over them.

It is not at all unlikely that this advantage will increase to three and one-half games by nightfall. The Red Sox ought to put it over the Browns in the final game today. These second division teams come along and put up quite a fight in the early part of the series, but they usually fade away at the close. They lose a lot of their pep when the other team takes their measure two or three times. The series now stands three to one in favor of Boston.

The Tigers may have to come back with Dubuc to beat the Senators.

AN intoxicated person tumbled over the bleacher fence in the opening inning of the second game, and held up proceedings for a minute or so.

"Put him out," yelled Umpire Connolly.

The I. P. defied the Sage of Natick by waving his hands. He then raised himself on the grass and prepared to enjoy the game.

"Put him out," yelled Connolly to Speaker.

Speaker walked out that way, but the I. P. would not budge. Finally two bleachers appeared and the I. P. began to crawl along the ground on his hands and knees. Then he tried to climb the fence, but made a bad job of it until friendly hands reached over and hauled him over. (Prolonged laughter).

The last seen of him was when a policeman was escorting him through the runway to the gate.

THE Red Sox played their 100th game yesterday. Practically they have completed two-thirds of their schedule. They have fifty-four more games to play.

BRAVES GOING AT A PENNANT CLIP

With the Braves on the way to Quakerville, where they open a series of vital importance tomorrow with the Phillies, a glance at their work since they left home tells a story of championship ball.

The Braves' current road tour opened in Brooklyn July 27. Since then they have won nine games, lost six and played one tie.

The Champions were in fourth place; seven games out of first place, the margin footing up to 82 points, when they left Boston the night of July 26.

July 27 the Braves won in Brooklyn and thus moved up to within six and one-half games of the lead. On the Western trip, which closed yesterday, the Braves gained three and one-half lengths on the Phillies. So now they trail the leaders by only three lengths, as well as by only 21 points.

Before the Braves hit the road they captured eleven out of twelve. Hence, all told they have landed twenty of their last twenty-seven games, not counting that nine inning draw out in St. Louis yesterday.

Including the Brooklyn matinee the champions have indulged in sixteen games since they have been homebodies in the land of the enemy. Their errors total but twelve. That must be about the banner road record in the game's history—an average of but .674 errors per bout.

Hennery Gowdy alone did anything to speak about on the road. Three of the twelve bobbles are chalked up against him. Maranville missed but one of his eighty-three chances, while "Red" Smith's error yesterday was the only one he made in the forty chances he blazed his way.

Sherwood Nottingham Magee, exactly as all good "fans" know, is fairly killing the ball. In the sixteen soirees he has pickled the pellet to the merry tune of .356. Little Eddie Pitzpatrick is swatting almost .500, and has yet to make an error. Still, Evers was missed badly the days he was an absentee.

The honor men are Moran, 11 runs; Magee, 21 safe hits; Magee, seven doubles; Magee, two triples; Tyler, one homer—"Lefty's" four-base soak in Chicago is the only one made thus far on the round. Of course, Schmidt leads in put outs and Maranville is high with assists.

GREGG CARDED TO OPPOSE BROWNIES

By A. H. C. MITCHELL.

The Browns play their last game of the series with the Red Sox this afternoon and tomorrow the Washingtons will be here for a few games.

This last game with the Browns ought to be tucked away in the right place before nightfall. Unless there are some bad breaks against the Red Sox it looks like a sure win. It doesn't seem as if the Browns could present a pitcher that could stop our boys. Carrigan, on the contrary, has a few stiff up his sleeves that ought to be able to deliver.

There is Vean Gregg, for example. Vean pitched two rounds yesterday—a mere warming up for this man who is in fine physical shape. Carrigan might well risk him in the last game with the Browns, with Mays and Collins is held in reserve.

The Browns have drawn close to 28,000 in three playing days. There has been an average of 9,000 for each day. Of course, double-headers have been staged and today there is only one game, so the average will probably take a drop. At that a fat check will be taken home to St. Louis by the visitors. Which will help some, as the Browns are not drawing well at home.

Bannwart Passes Job with Colonial

PROVIDENCE, Aug. 12—Secretary Alexander Bannwart of the Colonial League has resigned, and his resignation has been accepted by President C. H. Capper. No explanation was given, but it is hinted that it was not voluntary on Bannwart's part.

FOREIGN FLYERS IN A WRANGLE; LINART WINS

Victor Linart of Belgium won the twenty-five-mile motor paced race with Leon Didier of France at the Revere cycle track, but will not be awarded the prize until the National Cycling Association board rules.

For twenty-four miles and six laps Didier set the pace, and gave every evidence of being the winner. On the sixth lap in the last mile his rear tire punctured and several spokes loosened in his front wheel, which required a change of bicycles.

The point Didier makes, and which can be settled only by the N. C. A., is that he was entitled to the right lane in which to secure another wheel. But the race had only four laps to go, which, according to the judges, would require the riders to travel an extra mile.

Linart, slipping across the finish line ahead after riding out the twenty-five miles, was awarded the race, and will continue to be looked upon as the winner until a decision saying otherwise is rendered. The summary:

Three-quarter-mile handicap (professional)—Won by Saxon Williams (75 yd.), Buffalo, N. Y.; second, Percy Curtis (70 yd.), Wakefield; third, Warren Holbrook (70 yd.), South Boston; fourth, Frank Durbeck (50 yd.), South Boston. Time—No. 24 1/5.

One-half-mile handicap (amateur)—Won by Burt Bowler (scratch), Boston; second, Ralph Mellen (50 yd.), Boston; third, Ned Chandler (150 yd.), Boston; fourth, Augusta Lackey (90 yd.), Topsfield. Time—1 1/5.

One-mile open tandem—Won by Willie Turville and Charlie Turville; second, Dennis Leonard and Frank Durbeck. Time—2m. 40 4/5s.

Five-mile motor paced handicap—Won by Fred Herbert, Fall River; second, Tim Sullivan, New Haven; third, Tom Connolly, Everett; fourth, Ned Chandler, Boston. Time—13m. 12 1/5s. Lap winner, Leigher Winslow, Providence.

Five-mile invitation—Won by Pete Antonucci, Boston; second, William Cupit, Roxbury; third, A. Lewis, Boston; fourth, Ed. Bellis, Boston. Time—13m. 12 4/5s. Lap winner, Leigher Winslow, Providence.

Five-mile motor paced handicap—Won by Pat Logan, South Boston; second, L. C. Bellis, Everett; third, Harry Jackson, Revere; fourth, Percy Carter, Wakefield. Distance—1 mile 7 laps. Time—13m. 12 1/5.

Twenty-five-mile motor paced match—Won by Victor Linart, Belgium; second, Leon Didier, Paris, France. Time—39m. 12 4/5s.

Both Boxmen Go It Through Two Games

In the double-header at New Bedford, between the New Bedford and Brockton (Colonial League) teams, a bit of baseball history was hung up when the same batteries worked the entire route in both games.

In the first scrap Gleason and Phillips got the decision for New Bedford against Howson and Dempsey, 1 to 0. Howson and Dempsey came back by flaying Gleason and Phillips, 2 to 1. The concluding combat only went seven innings.

Gleason allowed thirteen hits and Howson a like number. Gleason struck out eleven batters to Howson's fourteen. The walks were five off Howson and four of Gleason.

California Cracks Play Rapid Tennis

SEABRIGHT, N. J., Aug. 12.—Maurice McLoughlin, T. R. Pell and Karl Behr worked their way into the semi-final round by their victories in the Achelis tournament. McLoughlin won his match from H. A. Thorpekmorton, the Metropolitan champion, 6—2 and 6—0. The defeated man put up a game battle. Pell defeated Ward Dawson, 6—4, 6—1, and Behr beat R. Leroy, 6—1, 6—2.

McLoughlin and Dawson won a place in the finals in the doubles, defeating Watson, Jr., and Thayer, 6—3, 6—3, and will meet L. Beekman and L. E. Mahan today.

NEW YORK YACHTS START HOME TODAY

MARBLEHEAD, Aug. 12.—The New York Y. C. squadron has disbanded and today boats will go westward, leaving to go through the Cape Cod canal.

The Resolute defeated the Vanitie in a special race for the cup class yachts by about two minutes. The Resolute took an early and commanding lead, but the Vanitie reduced it by fast work on the last two legs.

The Ventura won the King's cup in the final event of the cruise. The Ilelin schooner Enchantress finished first of the regular racers, but lost on time allowance.

The race was sailed in a light southwest wind.

Alfred Grenda Gets World's Bike Record

NEWARK, N. J., Aug. 12.—Alfred Grenda, the Australian bike rider, set a new world's record in the two-thirds of a mile race here, when he covered the distance in 1:10 4-5, two seconds faster than the former mark made by Goulet a year ago. Frank Kramer showed a return to form when he took Theodore into camp in a match race last night, winning in two straight heats.

Evers Bulletin No. 57.

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 12.—Before boarding the Eastward bound train with the Braves last night, Captain Johnny Evers said: "I am feeling pretty good again and I'm confident I'll be able to finish the season all right. I would like to have a lay-off at that, but now that the race is so hot, I guess I'll hang on. After we get out in first place, perhaps I will ask for a short vacation."

RING RESULTS

GLOUCESTER, Aug. 12.—Johnnie Mello of Fall River was disqualified for tossing the sixth round of his bout with Brazin Brown of Boston at the Lyceo A. C. Young Joe Rivers of New Bedford won a decision over Johnnie Coss of Boston in six rounds and the Syrian Kid of Gloucester won a decision over Pat Gardiner of Gloucester in four rounds.

BUFFALO, Aug. 12.—Ted ("Kid") Lewis, the English welterweight champion, outpointed Johnny Dundee, Jersey City, in ten rounds last night. Both boxers fought all the way.

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—Frankie Brown beat up Jimmy Carroll in their ten-round scrap at the Longacre A. C. Carroll was almost out in the last session. Young Kendall stopped Battling Chip in one round.

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—Happy Littleton, the New Orleans middleweight, had the better of Johnnie Howard at Ravenna in a fairly fast ten-round bout. Harry Ramage and Young Kendall fought a ten-round draw. Kid Thomas of Brooklyn is the sixth knockout.

"THE RABBIT'S COLUMN" By Walter J. Maranville SHORTSTOP OF THE BRAVES

En Tour (How's that), Aug. 12.

We had a couple of hot games with the Cards yesterday, winning the first, but the second went to a draw because we could not see to play. But we gained a bit. We practically got up in third place with the Pirates and are now, as I figure it, only two games behind the Brooklyns and three games behind the Phillies. Wow!

* * *

Friends have often asked me if I get all nerved up in a pennant race so that I can't eat or sleep, and lose flesh.

I will answer by saying that as long as my health is good I can sleep no matter how exciting the race is. And I can eat under almost any circumstances. No, a tough battle for the pennant doesn't affect my appetite so that the landlady could notice it. And as for losing flesh, I haven't much to lose. Hustling around that bag in hot weather keeps the fat off all right.

* * *

We are on our way to Philadelphia, where we open tomorrow. Dickie Rudolph was sent on by Stallings a day ahead of us so that he could rest up, step in a man's size bed and be ready to take Alexander's measure as Grover pitches the opening day.

Suppose we clean up in Philadelphia; what then? Why, you might say we will be in first place, provided the Brooklyns are trimmed a couple of times in the meantime and the Pirates lose a game.

* * *

There will be great doings when we get back to our new grounds. Friends have written me that the diamond is great up at Braves Park. You know they took up the sod at the old South End Grounds and planted it for the new diamond. We will be running over the same turf that all the old National League heroes from 1872 up to the present time have run upon. George Wright, Al Spalding, Tommy Bond, Pop Anson, Mike Kelly, Johnny Ward, Buck Ewing, Cy Young, the Whites, Dan Brothers, John Clarkson, Charley Nichols, Joan Buffinton, Roger Conner, George Gore, Billy Sunday, Mike Tiernan, Jimmy Collins, Fred Tenney, and so on without end.

We are in good shape and our confidence is high. We believe Pete Compton will help us a lot. We expect him to join us right away. I venture to predict he will make good in the same way that others have made good for Stallings—the men who have been in the majors and sent back to the minors.

They tell me that Hank O'Day got a great ovation when he went on the field to umpire at Chicago last Sunday. When the crowd recognized him they rained the roof.

Personally, I am glad to see he old war horse back on the job again. There is no doubt that O'Day is a first-class umpire and he will be an improvement over some of the men who have been giving the decisions in our league.

I hear that Hughey Jennings offered Connie Mack $15,000 for "Bullet" Joe Bush. Mack turned the offer down. It looks to me as if the Tigers needed another pitcher badly, although I read in the newspapers where Jennings says he thinks his present staff is as good as the Red Sox corps.

From all I hear, Jennings is wrong. They tell me the Red Sox have about as good a staff of twirlers as you would want to see on one club. Just the same, we (my teammates and myself) would like to bat against them in October.

How about a world's series in Boston, eh?

Braves Show Up Moran Clan on Western Whirl

The Braves, locked with the Giants, were high for the East in the intersectional battling coming to a close yesterday. In giving the clan of Mathias a notch of 8-6 for its roadwork, the victory scored in Brooklyn July 27 is not included.

The Pirates gained half a game on the Braves, Giants and Cubs. The Reds broke even, while the Dodgers and Cardinals each lost twice oftener than they won, while the leading Phillies were whipped nine out of thirteen.

The accompanying table shows the result of the East vs. West scrapping:

Clubs	W.	L.	Clubs	W.	L.
Braves	8	6	Pittsburgh	5	5
New York	8	6	Chicago	5	6
Brooklyn	7	6	Cincinnati	5	7
Philadelp'a	4	9	St. Louis	4	8

Wakefield Man Is Confident of Success in World's Series Contest

ERIC E. WRIGHT

Watch for your pictures, candidates, in next Sunday's AMERICAN!

The Contest Manager has arranged for the publication of a big display containing pictures of "The five ones" in the AMERICAN'S World's Series Contest.

As announced yesterday, there will be a vote standing in next Sunday's AMERICAN.

This is due to the increased vote-gathering activity of practically all candidates, who almost deluged the Contest Department with vote coupons for Series #2.

The next standing will be printed Sunday, August 22, and will contain a complete record of all votes polled to and including Series #2.

The race for the 25 FREE trips to the World's Series games is now on the "home stretch," which means, of course, that it a "speed"—vote-gathering speed—that counts from now until the finish.

Pile them up, candidates! You'll need them!

Wakefield's candidate is Eric E. Wright of No. 186 North avenue.

He says: "I've always wanted to see all the games in the World's Series. Now, I'm going to!"

THIRD ROUND ON IN PRESS TOURNEY

The third round in the eight divisions of the Boston Press Club tournament will be held this afternoon at Wollaston and some high-class golf is assured.

In the second round Jack Sullivan of Woodland was the low scorer with the tidy card of 73. He beat F. G. Thayer of Wollaston, 6 and 5. Sullivan's card is the best that has been turned in during the tournament and it will take some mighty good golf to beat it.

Friday there will be an 18-hole handicap medal play tournament, with prizes for the best gross and the two best nets. Entrance fees have been placed at $1. All golfers who so desire can enter.

B. A. A. Athletes in Providence Games

George V. Brown and a party of thirteen athletes left Boston this morning for Providence to take part in the Clan-na-Gael's field day at Crescent Park. W. Loomis, J. L. Grey, G. Brownville, Jack Rose, Jimmy Burke, J. Donahue, Dan Mahoney, Henry Mahoney, Bob Greene, W. Hobbs, Robert Bell and Walter Whalen are the athletes making the trip.

Wear Boxing Gloves, but Match Pennies

Sounds impossible, doesn't it? It's the way an Englishman of the old school described the present-day ring fighters to Jess Willard.

It was in Havana just before the championship mill last April. The Englishman visited Willard's camp and entertained Willard with tales of the yesterday of boxing.

Tomorrow's installment of the autobiography now running in the AMERICAN quotes the British sportsman. Read it.

"THE GODDESS"

By GOUVERNEUR MORRIS and CHARLES W. GODDARD

THE GODDESS—the serial Beautiful—written by two famous authors and presented by the Hearst newspapers in collaboration with the renowned Vitagraph Players:

Miss Anita Stewart as the Goddess.
Mr. Earle Williams as Tommy Barclay.

Be sure to read each instalment carefully, and then see the characters and the thrilling incidents spring to life in the motion pictures.

BARCLAY was restless; the cabin was stuffy and verminous; he preferred the deck and the open air. So it happened that in passing the main hatch, in a lull of the wind, he heard a sound as of a man snoring. He had left Semmes and Sturtevant complaining of the discomforts of the cabin. Captain Nye was at the wheel, the two men and the boy forward.

"Here," thought Barclay, "we've got a stowaway. Some poor son-of-a-gun of a wharf rat, I suppose."

He strolled aft.

"There's someone asleep in the main hold," he said.

"The hell there is!"

"You can hear him snoring if you listen at the hatchway."

Gradually it dawned upon Barclay that the presence on the schooner of a man unknown and unvouched for was not pleasant. So he descended into the hold, struck a match and had a look at the sleeper's face.

Then very softly he returned to the deck, half closed the hatch, and thrusting his head through the opening that remained, he called loudly, "Wake up, there!"

The snores ceased and were followed by a kind of sleepy groaning.

"Gunsdorf," called Barclay, in a sharp, incisive voice, "can you hear me?"

"I hear you."

"What are you doing on this boat?"

No answer.

"Well, you'll not be able to do any mischief. You seem to like it down there. I am going to close this hatch so that you can't open it. You will not get out until the boat is back at her starting point. The captain is a safe man. You will not find out from him where I have been set ashore. So good night to you."

Gunsdorf's answer was to fire two wild shots from his automatic. Barclay slammed the hatch to and succeeded in fastening it so that it could not be opened from below.

Then he went once more to the captain and talked to him for some time in an undertone. After that he walked to Sturtevant and Semmes to tell them what had happened.

"He's been insane for some time," said Sturtevant. "He wouldn't stop at anything. I hope to God he hasn't got a stick of dynamite with him. He'd think nothing of blowing himself to pieces, if we went, too."

Gunsdorf, in insane fury, bores a hole in the bottom of the boat.

Gunsdorf had no stick of dynamite. He had only an automatic with a few cartridges in the magazine, and an insane, murderous rage and hatred in his breast.

So they'd land somewhere, would they? He'd be carried back to the starting point, would he? Not if he knew it. His ride on the back of the automobile was all in vain, was it? He'd show 'em—curse 'em!

And his hands, their strength refreshed by hatred, insanity and suicidal daring, sought and found the big auger and began to bore a hole through the bottom of the schooner. He would drown, but so would they!

After a time the edge of the hole he was boring became damp, water began to trickle from the bit, then to spit and hiss, then the bit went clean through, and when he had withdrawn it water spouted upward as from a garden hose.

Gunsdorf laughed aloud and at once began to bore a second hole. When he had nearly finished a third the bit broke short off, and Gunsdorf cursed. But the Mary Nye was taking in a good deal of water, and the failure of the bit only seemed to have postponed the time when the sea should close over her.

But in the book of fate the Mary Nye was not destined to perish by water alone. Among her heterogeneous coastwise cargo which had not been unloaded from the small hold back of the main hold were two sacks of unslaked lime. After a time a trickle of water found its way to these, and they began to smoke.

The first person to be aware of the smoke was Gunsdorf. It filtered into the main hold before it found its way to the deck. Gunsdorf at the moment, with a kind of diabolical eagerness, was trying to calculate the rapidity with which the water was rising. This was a difficult matter, owing to the motion of the vessel.

When he smelled the smoke his heart almost stopped beating, he was so frightened. Water and dynamite had no terror for him, but death by fire had always been his nightmare. He was like a man waking after a great drunkenness, during which, let us say, he has committed some crime which to his frenzied brain at the time of its commission had seemed a reasonable and even a meritorious thing to do, but the memory of which makes the same brain, the fumes of alcohol gone, a prey to the most awful terror and remorse.

The Pursuit of Happiness

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

MOST of life's happiness comes incidentally. The minute you pursue happiness you find her an elusive jade who delights to lead you a wild-goose chase and to taunt you with the unpleasant consciousness of the sort of classification into which the chase is leading you. And how is a mere goose to know when she is happy if ever the chase is successfully terminated?

Pursue your daily tasks and duties honestly and faithfully and sometimes in the midst of them comes a wonderful feeling—"This is my work, I created this; I did that." There is exquisite happiness in this feeling of accomplishment. But it is never happiness you have pursued for itself. It came incidentally as a result of labor honestly performed.

We catch happiness when we are least dreaming of her. Sometimes we find her in the approving glance of kind eyes; sometimes she lies in our own consciousness of attainment; sometimes the scent of a flower gives us an exquisite emotion; and often the knowledge that to others we have brought full happiness gives us a beautiful knowledge of the desired of all humans.

But circumstances cannot make you happy or unhappy. What counts is how you react to them. Happiness cannot come from without. It has to be born in your own soul.

A dear friend of mine suffers the tortures of unhappiness from the things she manages to imagine. If a friend is preoccupied and not as enthusiastic as usual she suffers tortures from the thought of losing the friendship of that individual. If one of her friends happens not to communicate with her for a few days, she immediately decides that the ties of friendship have been loosened. And she manages so to imagine herself as truly into unhappiness as if it really existed.

Happiness is largely a matter of being at peace with yourself and the world. It is well not to expect too much of life; not to be afraid of it, and so far as possible without self-deception to see some good in it. The evil must always be regarded as something powerless and temporary which will in time defeat itself.

Taking life and oneself too seriously is a fine way to make oneself very unhappy. Much of the day's measure of unpleasantness is a passing thing, very plain to us its importance. If the essentials of life are sure the subordinate things do not count greatly.

It is so easy to magnify trifles—to worry about the possibility of his kind criticism from others. It is easy to find little flaws in the amber and from a focussing of attention on these to take on a distorted view of the amber that its clear yellow light will be no longer beautiful.

To be happy, be glad of the chance life offers you for work and achievement.

"I find earth not gray, but rosy—
Heaven not grim, but fair of hue,
Do I stoop? I pluck a posy.
Do I stand and stare? All's blue."
So says Browning.

Beautiful Hair Tinting

Absolutely and Positively Harmless "Brownatone" Instantly Changes the Hair to Any Shade of Brown (or Black if Preferred).

Nothing so robs a woman of her good looks and attractiveness as gray, streaked or faded hair. And there is no more reason or sense in tolerating unattractive hair than there is in wearing unbecoming gowns. Nearly all of the more noted beauties long ago recognized this fact, and so wear their hair not only in the style, but also the color, most becoming.

The one hair stain that stands supreme is "Brownatone." It is simple and easy to use. Just comb or brush it into your hair. It cannot be detected, will not rub or wash off, acts instantly, and is absolutely harmless.

"Brownatone" will give any shade desired from golden brown to black.

Your druggist sells "Brownatone" or will get it for you, and it is worth your while to insist upon having this preparation and not something else. A sample and a booklet will be mailed you free upon receipt of 10 cents, and your orders will be filled direct from our laboratories if you prefer.

Two sizes—50c and $1.00.

"Brownatone" for Restoring or Multiple Shades, also "Ayer Tonic" for Dandruff.

Why We Quarrelled

A New Series of Home Life Episodes

By Virginia Terhune Van De Water

Copyright, 1913, Star Company.

ONE of the hardest problems I have had to face in my married life is trying to reconcile my duty to my husband with that to my mother.

Looked at calmly and dispassionately, I know the fault is not my parent's. Her one desire is for my happiness, although it is entirely natural that she should long to have me with her often. Yet my husband regards this wish of hers as a form of selfishness and feels that my indulgence of her is weakness on my part and equivalent to neglect of him.

Last month when my mother was ill and I ran in to see her several times each day and the last thing at night, John expressed his dissatisfaction at this state of affairs.

"Your care of her wearies you so that you are not in a fit condition to attend to your peculiar duties," he complained.

"She is one of my regular duties," I rejoined. "I am her only child, and it is my right and pleasure to be of service to her."

"And she imposes upon you!" he insisted. "I really think that a man has some rights. You women are fond of quoting to us, 'For this cause shall a man leave father and mother and cleave unto his wife.' But it is only fair for a wife to do the same thing."

"Don't I?" I asked. "Would you respect me if I neglected the mother to whom I owe a debt of gratitude I can never pay?"

"You mean for caring for you when you were a kid?" John queried, "Well, since she brought you into the world, that is the least she could do. I do not see that she done such lots for you that you need be her slave now."

I looked at him in wonder at the ease with which a man forgets. I hesitated to remind him that two years after our marriage, when he failed in business, my mother lent him money to put him on his feet again, and that she would not allow him to pay interest on the loan.

"You are like a son to me," she told him then. "Have no fear of my row, and I feel as if you belonged to me."

Even now she is paying the tuition of our ten-year-old lad at the private school to which John went as a boy and where he always longed to have his son go. The boy is my father's namesake, and my mother never forgets this.

"Well, what are your thoughts about?" John demanded, as I kept silence while I pondered over these facts.

"I was just thinking," I said, "of the many obligations we are under to mother. Since you ask me, I tell you this—although I did not mean to mention it."

"Obligations!" he exclaimed. "Is that what you call them? I don't, I suppose you mean that she helped with money at one time. Well, I paid it back. And she is paying Lawrence's tuition—but she insisted on doing that. I never asked her to send the lad to a private school. I always supposed he would have to go to a public school—as thousands of other nice lads do. She loves the boy and likes to do things for him."

"But you benefit by her love for him and us," I insisted.

"If I do, I pay well for it in the lack of my wife's society whenever her mother wants her," he retorted.

Yes, only last week, when he asked me to take a little trip to the mountains with him, and I penitented that I could not leave the children, he said sadly, "Oh, send them over to your mother."

"They might worry her," I ventured. "She is not very strong now, you know."

"My Husband couldn't understand."

"Nonsense! She would love to have them. It will be a real kindness to her to let them go there and amuse her and get her out of herself. Of course the nurse will accompany them, so she'll have no work to do for them."

That is the way he regards the matter. He takes all that my mother does for granted, because she is my mother and loved me and mine. Yet he rebels if she takes much of my time.

Another phase of the subject over which we quarrel occasionally is his habit of making silly jokes about mothers-in-law. I consider these in wretched taste as long as his wife's mother lives. But John thinks me absurdly sensitive on this point.

"There you go again, looking at everything through your mother's eyes, and seeing harm and taking offence where none in the world was meant!" he accuses.

The strangest phase of it all is that he protests that he is fond of my mother. If this be so, why can't he be nicer to her?

He is polite to her with a patronizing tolerance that would drive me to the verge of exasperation were I in her place, and which actually makes me ashamed of him. If she notices it she hides from me this knowledge that she does.

Yet he is quick to call my attention to any fault of hers.

"Did you notice?" he asks, "that your mother was cross tonight?" Or, "Why must your mother tell the same story over again and again?"

All of which only proves to me the truth of my contention that a mother's love is on a higher plane and of a less selfish nature than is a husband's. My mother wants my happiness above all else; my husband wants me, myself.

Anecdotes of the Famous

THE Archbishop of Canterbury has been making himself popular with the soldiers lately.

Dr. Davidson is extremely fond of chess, a fact which once caused him to make a very witty remark. At the opening of a chess congress he said:

"Although I am not a brilliant player I can claim to represent all the pieces, except the pawn. I have a great deal to do with kings and queens, and since I have lived in two castles, and I am probably the only man living who is both a knight and a bishop."

* * *

Lord Crewe, who has written a poem in memory of his son-in-law, killed in action, is a poet of merit, and has written a number of beautiful verses.

His lordship tells an amusing story of his father, the late peer. It was during the controversy over the Deceased Wife's Sister bill, and his lordship wrote to his wife as follows:

"Have you heard the latest argument in favor of the D. W. S. bill? It is unanswerable. If you marry your sister you only have one mother-in-law!"

* * *

Sir James Barrie, like most literary men, is a very great smoker, and some time ago, when he was asked to tell how he wrote his books replied as follows:

"Journalism: Two pipes equals one hour; two hours equals one idea; one idea equals three paragraphs; three paragraphs equals one leader. Fiction: Eight pipes equals one ounce; seven ounces equals one week; two weeks equals one chapter; twenty chapters equals one pen; two pens equals one novel."

* * *

This is the latest Tree story. A young member of his company who did not suffer from modesty met a well-known theatrical manager some time ago and stopped for a chat.

"Well, how is the world using you?" asked the manager.

"Oh, we're going strong, going strong," replied the other. "We are doing very nicely. We shall shortly revive one of Shakespeare's plays, and after—well, we haven't quite settled yet, but, of course, we shall be doing something very special soon, you know."

"Well, good-bye!" said the manager. "Glad to hear you are doing so well! Oh—er—by the way, is Tree still with you?"

Israel Zangwill has been saying that he thinks it possible that the motion picture might oust the drama.

Mr. Zangwill was once travelling on an omnibus when a lady passenger, who recognized him, thinking to be particularly agreeable, said: "Oh, Mr. Zangwill, I have read one of your books six times!"

"Madam," replied the author gravely, "I would much rather that you had bought six copies."

TODAY'S BEAUTY HELPS

Nothing excites more criticism than a woman with her face all daubed with face powder in her desire to hide a faulty or an aging skin. Instead of using powder, which clogs and enlarges the pores, it is far better to use a good face lotion that will improve and actually benefit the skin. By dissolving four ounces of spurmax in a half-pint of hot water you can make a delightful lotion that will do wonders as a skin whitener and complexion beautifier. It removes all shininess, tallowness and roughness and gives the skin a smooth, velvety tone, while it does not run off easily like powder, nor does it show on the skin.

By washing the hair with a teaspoonful of spurmax dissolved in a cup of hot water, afterward rinsing thoroughly with clear water, one finds that it dries evenly and evenly, is unstreaked, bright, soft and very fluffy, so fluffy, in fact, that it looks more abundant than it is and so soft that arranging it becomes a pleasure. This simple, inexpensive shampoo cleanses the hair and scalp thoroughly of all dandruff and dirt, and leaves a clean, wholesome feeling. All scalp irritation will disappear, and the hair will be bright and glossier than ever before.—Advertisement.

WILLARD TELLS WHAT BEAT JOHNSON

By JESS WILLARD.

(Copyright, 1915, by A. Merritt. All Rights Reserved.)

BETTING doesn't prove anything. Even when I have been surest of winning I have refused to put up a cent on my chances. Money that you get without working for it never did a man any good.

But it was mighty interesting, all the same, to watch the odds change on my fight with Johnson. When I landed in Havana everything was Johnson and you couldn't find a man foolish enough to make a bet on me.

A week before the fight I was 6 to 5 favorite and there was mighty little Johnson money in sight. Two or three days before the battle the champion breezed into a hotel and offered to bet $10,000 to $5,000 that he would whip me.

Before anybody could take him up, he had flipped his roll back into his jeans and was out of the place. As a matter of fact, I don't believe that Jack had a penny down on himself.

The change in odds was due to crowds that visited both training quarters. They saw that I was in the shape of my life and they did not take much stock in Johnson's easy way of training. At no time did the champion do a great amount of road work, nor did he spend many hours in boxing.

Johnson knew in his heart that he had to whip me inside of twenty rounds. He had all the boxing skill that he needed. He was confident of his strength. The one thing he needed was wind, and he did just enough work to put his lungs in shape.

I think the fight itself proved that Johnson's training system was the best that could have been thought out for him. He fought twenty-six rounds at top speed, and any fighter who can do that is in the pink of condition.

It was the longest fight in his whole record. Just remember that when anybody says that Johnson was in poor shape. Two twenty-round battles with Sam McVey and a twenty-round defeat by Marvin Hart were the only bouts that carried him beyond the fifteen-round limit.

I say that when Johnson faced me he was in the best possible condition. He was as strong as a bull up to the fifteenth round. I felt him getting tired then, but he didn't commence to weaken to any great extent until the twentieth round.

After that he went fast. Bat bear in mind that he took a lot of punishment during those twenty rounds, did a lot of hurricane fighting and carried my weight of 250 pounds of weight most of the time.

It was after the twentieth round that his most life began to tell on him. It was then that he needed a strong heart and strong lungs. But when he got down to bedrock he didn't have anything to draw on.

That was the difference between us. I was tired, too, but my heart and lungs were working just as strong as at the start. I had never poisoned them with whiskey, tobacco and late hours. When the referee counted Johnson out in the twenty-sixth I was in shape to go an hour longer.

I don't say that tobacco kills anybody, but I do say that tobacco puts poison in your system, weakens your heart, eats down your lung capacity and makes your nerves trembly.

I kept at my training steadily and tried to keep away from the crowds as much as possible. I was never much of a talker, and I felt less like talking than ever that last week. There was a wife and children back in Los Angeles, and I knew if Johnson whipped me that times were going to be mighty hard.

I never met Johnson at all during training. He came by my place several times, and Tom Jones saw him.

The newspaper boys were very slow in cancelling me as champion. Towards the last they sent in good accounts of my condition, also of my improvement in boxing, but few of them figured that I could possibly come out a winner.

On March 25 the word came to us that President Menocal had asked that the fight be postponed from Easter Sunday, April 4, to Monday, April 5. This was done not only at the request of prominent Cubans, but also because several hundred cables had come from church people in the United States.

The postponement tickled me to death. All along I had hated the thought of fighting on Easter Sunday, and I had asked Tom Jones several times to see if he couldn't get a change to some other day.

I don't believe in a "Blue Sunday." It's a day of rest, as well as a day of worship, and I think it stupid and cruel of church people to try and rob working people of the one time in the week that they have for open air sports.

But prize fighting doesn't go very well with any Sunday, much less Easter Sunday, and I was a mighty happy man when President Menocal sent word to the promoters that he would like to have the day changed.

I took it as a good sign, and I felt more than ever sure that I would win.

(Tomorrow Willard will write about champions who fought "at the drop of a hat.")

Lewis Warner, Once Bank Head, Dies

NORTHAMPTON, Aug. 12.—Lewis Warner, aged seventy-four, ex-president of the Hampshire County National Bank, died suddenly from heart failure at the Dickinson Hospital. After graduating from the high school he became a clerk in a Springfield bank. In 1866 he came to Northampton and between that time and the spring of 1898 he was teller, cashier and president of the Hampshire County National Bank and also treasurer of the Hampshire Savings Bank. In April, 1898, it was discovered he had embezzled funds to the amount of $200,000. He was sentenced to not less than nine nor more than twelve years in the State prison and com-

JEWS ASK U. S. BAR MUNITIONS TO RUSSIA

BERLIN, Aug. 12—By Wireless via Sayville—The Association of German Jews has addressed an appeal to the United States to stop the exportation of ammunition to Russia, according to the Overseas News Agency. Copies of the appeal will be sent to all neutral countries. The appeal, which was written by Rabbi Levi follows:

"Europe stands in flames. Across the ocean stands America in peace. She hears not the thunder of cannon. A fresh breeze of quiet is blowing upon the land. She is enjoying golden peace.

"We cry out to America in behalf of the unhappiness of Judea—Poland. Thousands of American industrious citizens sons from towns that are now being destroyed by American shells.

"Instead of the gifts and money that you once sent to the towns from Libau to Lemberg, you are now sending iron shells for the Czar's army.

"You givest iron for gold, death for life. Children in America are murdering their parents.

"You have peace and are not thinking for your very existence. We implore you to listen to this appeal."

BATHING TWINS STILL HOLD THE BEACH

Mrs. Charlotte Smith, of the Women's Homestead Association, said today that naked girl babies at Scituate Beach need not worry anybody, but when it comes to the dinky shoulder garments worn by grown-up girls and women on Boston streets—why, that is a serious question.

The argument about the Scituate twins comes from a statement said to have been made by Mrs. Peter F Tague, wife of the Charlestown Congressman, that Mrs. Beatrice Forbes-Robertson Hale always kept her twins, Rosemary and Clemency, to bathe nude along Second Cliff Beach at Scituate.

Mrs. Tague is quoted as threatening to complain to Police Chief John F. Turner of Scituate on the ground that the undressed twin girls "endanger the morals of other young children."

Mrs. Hale, on the other hand, says that her twins were naked on the beach only twice and that for brief intervals, when their bathing suits were drying.

The twins are only eighteen months old and are as winsome as twin girls of that age and size. Their beauty and happy appearance, could possibly be

Mrs. Hale, who is the niece of Sir Johnston Forbes-Robertson, and who has gained fame on her own account as actress and suffragist, denies that she ever said people who objected to naked girl babies on the beach were "prudes."

Mrs. Charlotte Smith has been a leader in various feminine activities and has rigid standards for feminine dress. She was asked about the alleged nudity of the Hale offspring. She said:

"Let the people measure the fuss so to Tremont street and see what they shall see. The same dresses—why, I could scarcely believe my eye the first time I saw one of those dresses. Such dresses are really worse than nothing. They put the babies on the shelf. Babies splashing on the seashore—even with nothing on—are innocent and unconscious, but the young women who wear these flyaway dresses, short skirts, low-necked waists—well, we talk about little babies until we've settled Tremont street."

Mrs. Tague was due back from a trip to Washington today. Her version of the case, since the denials by Mrs. Hale, is yet to be heard.

LOST IN WEIGHT FIFTEEN POUNDS

Miss Rose Murphy, of No. 50 Mystic Street, W... a Critical Condition.

The New herbal system tonic Plant Juice is popular because it attacks, eradicates and removes those all-prevailing ailments—stomach, liver and kidney trouble and blood diseases. Twenty-five per cent of city people are reported unhappy or miserable, and are incapacitated by those enervating, life-sapping diseases. Stoutish, half-hearted, dyspeptic men and women, with thick, slow-flowing blood, with yellow skins, coated tongue, touches of rheumatism, and in fact are not many express it, fagged out and run down, become lifelong friends of Plant Juice as soon as they try it. It revitalizes the stomach, liver and kidneys, and injects new life into these who take it.

Considerable talk has been stirred up locally by the wonderful relief that Miss Rose Murphy, who lives at No. 50 Mystic street, has received by means of Plant Juice. Miss Murphy says:

"I had stomach trouble, dyspepsia and indigestion and nervousness, and was in a general run-down condition. My food fermented on my stomach, causing gas and much distress after eating. I did not sleep well at night and lost 15 pounds in weight, as I had no appetite and could eat nothing. Some of my relatives recommended Plant Juice to me and they had taken it, my uncle also had taken it and urged me to try it. I am happy to state that I did, and have been taking Plant Juice for three weeks now. I have gained 10 pounds and have a fine appetite. I now sleep well and enjoy my meals. I can certainly recommend Plant Juice to any one."

Plant Juice acts like magic in stomach trouble, gas formation, dizziness, bloating, heavy distressed feeling after meals and on retiring. It attacks and destroys all germs in the blood, corrects diseased conditions of the liver and kidneys, and restores them to normal condition.

The Plant Juice Man is at the Liggett Drug Co.'s Store, corner Washington and Avon streets, where he is daily meeting the local public and introducing and explaining the merits of this remedy.—Advertisement.

TODAY'S STOCK MARKETS

By W. H. ROSS,
Financial Editor

Stocks were steady at the opening with war order issues showing the most gains and with rails and coppers just a shade under the final level. The New York market was active from the start and the price trend seemed uncertain. It was conceded it had showed much inherent strength by the way in which it had withstood taking of profits. There was as much inclination as ever this morning to realize upon advances. It is understood that the largest financial interests are bullish and the public appears to take the same view. But the average professional trader is looking for reactions and is still in admiration that the present speculative situation is hard to diagnose.

There are few precedents upon which to base judgment. After the western crop movement had been studied railroad issues continued to have strong support. The verdict will doubtless help them as a whole. Allis-Chalmers attained a new high price early in the day, but later had a narrow range. But trade reports are very favorable. There is more foreign demand for railway equipment. But munition orders are relied upon to produce a big profit. Wall street is talking now about the probability of Bethlehem steel declaring a stock dividend and an extra distribution to shareholders in the future.

MOST STOCKS WERE HIGHER.

At the end of fifteen minutes most stocks were higher on the list. Among gains were Allis-Chalmers 1%, American Can ¾, Car & Foundry ¾, Beet Sugar ¾, American Locomotive ¾, Baldwin ¼, Central Leather ¼, General Motors 1½, Studebaker ¼, Westinghouse ¾, Rock Island ¾, St. Paul, ex-dividend, New York Central ¼, Ontario & Western ¼ and American Sugar ¼. Declines included Anaconda ¾, Utah ¼, U. S. Steel ¼, Preferred 1, Pennsylvania Pacific ¾, Northern Pacific ¾, Kansas City Southern ¼, Canadian Pacific ¼ and Baltimore & Ohio ¼. Most of the speculative interest at the outset was in the Allis-Chalmers, and in a few minutes it sold as high as 44½, its initial sales were 4,500 at 40 to 41½.

COPPERS QUIET HERE.

Trading was dull in the Boston market and little attention was paid to local copper issues. Quincy, Calumet & Arizona and Granby were among the few coppers dealt in. Both were fractionally higher.

The Bank of England report this week is the most favorable since war began. The proportion of its reserves to liabilities is 22.71 per cent, compared with 19.76 on the week before and 20.38 a year ago. The bank reported today an increase in bullion of £1,353,000 in its yellow metal.

Why Suffer From Migraine or Sick Headache?

USE ANTI-KAMNIA TABLETS

Dr. J. J. Caldwell says that this exceedingly distressing disease does not shorten life, but does make life rather torture. Sufferers from this affliction are confirmed in the belief that every attack weeks every few weeks until they are forty years of age. After which the attacks are less frequent, and finally disappear entirely. Palliative measures during the attack are all that it is possible to suggest, while care in the diet is the best preventive measure. An attack may often be prevented by taking two Anti-Kamnia Tablets when the first symptoms appear, and one Anti-Kamnia tablet every two hours during the attack shortens it, eases the pain and brings rest and quiet.

Anti-Kamnia may be obtained at all druggists. Ask for A-K Tablets. They quickly relieve all pain.

NEW YORK SEES $50,000,000 MOVE THROUGH STREETS

Head of British Treasure Train of Heavily Guarded Autos Moving Gold and Securities to Sub-Treasury.

Photograph by the International News Service.

NEW YORK, Aug. 12—With no more attempt at secrecy than P. T. Barnum would have used in connection with the parade of the "greatest show on earth," a treasure train of $19,534,200 was in gold coin, traversed the busiest streets of the city yesterday, with thousands of awed spectators looking on. It was the most talked-of shipment of gold from Europe since J. P. Morgan & Co., to be used in payment for war munitions.

Twenty-five automobile trucks, rushed at top speed and covered by two city blocks, hauled the vast treasure from the American Express Company's enclosure at Thirty-second and Thirty-third streets and Fourth and Eleventh avenues, to the United States sub-treasury.

At the head of the procession rode Police Commissioner Woods and a squad of police motorcyclists. Then mounted policemen under Sergeant Darrow, of Traffic Squad, C, and the chief's car. Then the Brinks Express Company's armored truck, under Sergeant Foley. Then a battery of automobiles on either side.

GUARDS HEAVILY ARMED.

Inside each barred truck were half a dozen heavily armed men, armed with Winchester rifles, and looking much like the lion tamer in the open den, directly after the lions were given to the teeth. The rear was brought up by a number of taxicabs, containing officials of the British Government, the American Express Company and the firm of J. P. Morgan & Co.

The streets had previously been cleared of all traffic, and even street cars ceased to run. Not a wheel in the sub-treasury occupied forty-eight minutes.

A tremendous crowd was there to greet the arrival of the treasure. Then occurred the first delay. Officials of the sub-treasury refused to accept the shipment without knowing what the 700 boxes in the twenty-five trucks contained. If it was United States gold coin, then the sub-treasury was the proper place to store it. But if it was foreign gold coin or bars it would have had to go to the assay office.

BOXES BROKEN OPEN.

"Bring a sledge," said one of the employes of the sub-treasury. It was produced in a jiffy. Then, with as little ceremony as though the box had contained nails, he dealt it a series of blows which broke the iron bands and the wax seals.

Each of the 700 large boxes contained three boxes, each of which, 10 three feet long, iron-girthed and sealed. One sledge was used on each and one of the smaller boxes opened. It revealed a number of canvas bags, each containing a shiny brick of $20 gold pieces.

One of the bags was opened. As the bags were drawn forth and passed through a window an employe of the sub-treasury checked them off on an invoice sheet, while two employes each of J. P. Morgan & Co. and the American Express Company kept tally. Different bags contained $20, $10 and $5 gold pieces.

The gold reached the sub-treasury shortly after 11 o'clock, and it was almost two hours later before it had been stored away.

Up to this time the utmost secrecy had been maintained by every one regarding the quantity. Then W. P. Hamilton, a brother-in-law of J. P. Morgan, and a member of the Morgan firm, announced the value of the gold.

He said the shipment contained 1,950,000 ounces, which, at today's rate of $19.604 an ounce, makes a total of $19,534,200.

Pressed for some statement as to the securities, he refused all information, declaring it was a private transaction.

SENSATION IN STREET.

The arrival of the gold and securities created a sensation in Wall Street, there had been varying reports as to its value, the highest figure placing the amount at $100,000,000. When this amount was cut in half there was heavy selling in foreign exchange, and sterling dropped to $4.75, a new low record in this country. The normal is $4.86. Francs were also affected and dropped to 5.51¼, also a new low record.

Wall Street is speculating as to the source from whether they are American or foreign, and whether or not they will be thrown upon the market. It is believed, however, they are local securities, and that J. P. Morgan & Co. will hold them and release them gradually, thereby preventing a depressing effect on the market. The securities, to the British, will be worth only yesterday's foreign exchange.

The shipment, the largest in money value ever made between two nations, does not nearly wipe out England's indebtedness to the United States. When war started, this country owed England $100,000,000. This amount, in various shipments, was deposited to England's credit in Ottawa.

Since that time, the greater part of it has found its way back again to the United States in payment of war munitions. America's credit increased so rapidly that the present shipment was unnecessary.

PART OF ENGLAND'S DEBT.

It is understood it will cost England $100,000,000 more, to wipe the balance clean to date, and by the time, her debts here are increasing at an enormous rate.

One of the many unusual features of the arrival of the gold was the refusal of a German employe of the American Express Company to take any part in the transaction. When he was ordered to become one of the guards to insure its safe conduct, he resigned rather than comply.

The gold reached this city at 8 o'clock yesterday morning, in seven steel cars, over the New York Central railroad from Boston, via Albany. At Chatham, N. Y., the cars were switched off to the Spuyten Duyvil division, and thence to the American Express Company's yards.

Thirty armed guards were aboard each car, and there were also a number of Canadian Secret Service men, representatives of the British Government and private detectives on the trip.

During the trip the gold was in charge of H. Prendergast and Superintendent Hilmon, of the American Express Company. When this city reached R. E. M. Grace, vice president and general manager of the company, assumed charge.

Boy Struck by Car.

Edward Tucker, six years old, of No. 7 Sumner place, East Boston, was taken to the East Boston Relief Station last night, suffering from concussion of the brain, caused by being struck by an electric car.

How French Soldiers and Sailors Are Treated

French soldiers and sailors are being treated with Cadum ointment during the war. 200,000 boxes of it were ordered by the Minister of War, and approved by the Director of the Health Department. These facts officials knew what they were doing because they could see on each box the name of the famous pharmaceutical which Cadum is made. No matter how many things you have tried, you can make fresh purchase. Cadum ointment is a remedy for skin diseases, that is different from anything else. It stops itching at once, and begins healing with the first application. Obstinate skin troubles, such as eczema, pimples, sores, eruptions, ringworm, chafings, etc., yield quickly to its wonderful soothing and healing properties. Trial box, 10c; large box, 25c.—Advertisement.

MOTOR NOTES

By J. C. KERRISON.

Milton J. Budlong has resigned the presidency of the Packard Motor Car Companies of New York, Philadelphia and Chicago. He becomes vice-president of the Packard Motor Car Company of New York city, and will continue to have general supervision of the Philadelphia Packard business. H. U. Ellison has been made president of the Chicago company.

The Becker-Stutz Automobile Company has now taken possession of its permanent salesrooms at No. 794 Boylston street. For a short time this company occupied another establishment on Boylston street, pending only the refressing of the new quarters. Mr. Becker now has on his floor a full line of Stutz cars, and is convinced that the coming season will be a Stutz season so far as New England is concerned.

Word has been received by the Boice-Perrine Company that the Generator, the starting and lighting system for the cars built by the General Electric Company, has won the gold medal at the Panama-Pacific International Exposition.

The news was flashed to all the Genemotor distributors, and it was received in Boston with much enthusiasm, partly on account of the fact that the starter is built in the Lynn works of the General Electric Company and partly because the device has one of the leaders in point of sales.

F. K. Noyes, New England distributor of Buick cars, has just finished a road trip from the factory in Flint, Mich., to Boston in a 1916 five-passenger, six-cylinder Buick. He reached Boston without any and, except for the storm of last week, the riding was very pleasant. Mr. Noyes reported that much damage was done to crops along the way.

This is the second trip Mr. Noyes has made from Flint to Boston in a 1916 Buick this Summer.

London Docks Under Fire of Zeppelins

SATVILLE, N. Y., Aug. 12—The exact results of the latest Zeppelin raid on England, when fourteen British were killed, fourteen wounded and other damage done, became known for the first time through a Berlin wireless, explaining that in spite of a strong defence, British warships on the Thames and the London docks, torpedo boats and a naval seaplane base and important constructions on the Humber were bombarded."

OUR FIRST DUTY IS TO MAINTAIN PEACE; OUR NEXT DUTY IS TO PREPARE FOR WAR

We Have Three Thousand Millions of "Surplus Cash in Our Country."

Very Nice, Comforting Thought. How Long Would We Have It if We Went to War?

Copyright, 1915, by the Star Company.

WE have been getting money rapidly in the United States lately. One single Wall Street firm has brought in forty-three millions of dollars of English gold from Canada.

The generous gods of finance only know how many other hundreds of millions are streaming in here—to pay us for our kindness in manufacturing weapons of murder.

Those who rule the finances of the country announce that in the United States at present there is an available "cash surplus" of three thousand millions of dollars. We have two billions of gold—double our usual supply.

Very nice, indeed; no wonder some of our heroes are thinking of war.

Whether or not you are interested in that "three thousand millions surplus," you are interested in wondering what would happen to the surplus if war were declared.

Suppose that war with a great nation were declared tomorrow.

You can imagine how rapidly our statesmen would divide into two camps.

There would be one patriotic, panic-stricken group, spending the three thousand millions surplus HONESTLY with considerable rapidity.

And there would be another camp of political rascals, thievish statesmen, engaged in stealing the three thousand millions surplus much more rapidly than the honest men would spend it.

Can you imagine how quickly the three thousand millions surplus would fade away if we had to have a war?

If we really need a war we ought to have it, no matter how much it costs.

If high-spirited, noble, fearless Americans feel that this is the time to help four other great nations thrash the German nation they must turn the three thousand millions surplus cash into worthlessss ships, and embalmed beef, and second-class armor plate, and the usual luxuries of a new war.

But if a war really isn't necessary—if it would be possible for the United States to go along, letting others act like murderers while we attend to our own business, would not that be preferable?

Couldn't we do something better with the three thousand millions, starting up industries, giving employment to men and women, putting the nation on the high road to prosperity?

Wouldn't that be better than inviting honest, panic-stricken fools in office and dishonest, cunning rascals in office to see how quickly they could spend the three thousand millions in the beginning of a war—without getting much for it?

A war isn't necessary, IF THE COUNTRY AND ITS OFFICIALS SHOW COMMON SENSE.

But the friends of peace must always remember that to have peace we must BE PREPARED FOR WAR.

For some months past we have printed pictures of the great, powerful Chinese nation, handcuffed by the Japanese dwarf. The size, wealth, vast population and ABSOLUTE WEAKNESS OF UNPREPARED CHINA ought to be a warning to this country.

Our fellow-citizen, Colonel Roosevelt, seems to have been impressed with this idea and suggests that the United States ought not to be "Chinafied."

There is no need for us to be "Chinafied." We only need to be "FORTIFIED."

And please bear in mind, any of you who object to the PRICE of protection, that it is a small price compared with the price of REPARATION after the damage has been done.

A clear and intelligent editorial on this subject appears in the able weekly, PUCK. Read it:

(From Puck.)

Food for Thought.

According to the Premier's statement, the War is costing England fifteen million dollars a day. To give us an adequate navy, adequate superdreadnoughts and adequate submarines would cost in the neighborhood of one hundred million dollars. To put our Coast defenses in proper condition, so that they would be effective against modern guns, would cost another hundred million dollars. Otherwise expressed, two weeks of a war which might last for years would cost us as much as defenses which would make that war impossible.

England is spending fifteen million dollars a day on war. How much more do you think she would be spending if she had not had the sense to have a navy ready?

England thus far has kept the Germans out of England. How long do you suppose England would have kept the Germans out if she had not had a navy infinitely bigger than that of Germany, so that a battle by Germany in the open sea would have been foolhardy?

Fifteen million dollars a day would be very small compared to what THIS country would spend if it should suddenly be plunged into war under the conditions that now confront England or Germany.

To spend a comparatively small amount WISELY IN PREPARATION would make us safe, and make war out of the question. Would you rather spend two hundred millions wisely in preparation and have peace—or have war and spend five thousand millions, with a pension roll, hard times, empty dinner pails and full graveyards to FOLLOW?

Mother-in-Law Question Still Supreme

No Other World Problem So Fraught With Misery and So Insoluble—Woman Who Has Been Saint in Own Home Becomes Firebrand in House of Her Children.

By Dorothy Dix

PERHAPS there is no other problem in the world so fraught with misery and so insoluble as the mother-in-law question. In it are condensed jealousy, and selfishness, and stinginess, and temper, and greed, and tyranny—every mean and unworthy impulse that can sway the human heart. Just to put two persons together in the relationship of mother-in-law, and daughter-in-law or son-in-law seems to bring out the worst that is in them, as a hot poultice brings out the measles.

The mother who has been a saint in her own home becomes a firebrand in her children's home. The angel wife turns into a spitfire when she has to live with her husband's mother. Chivalrous men treat their mothers-in-law with a lack of courtesy they would not show to a scrubwoman.

Any divorce judge will tell you that nine-tenths of the domestic infelicity that results in the breaking up of homes is caused directly or indirectly by the mother-in-law, and just how much of the unnecessary sorrow of life is occasioned by the inability of in-laws to get along peaceably together no one knows.

Here is a case in point: A man writes me that he has a mother, eighty-one years old, and that his wife has left him because he refused to turn his mother out of his house. He says he loves his wife dearly and his mother dearly, and has done everything he possibly could to make them both happy, but that when it came to a showdown between his wife and his mother he simply refused to send the mother away, because she is old and helpless, while his wife is young and strong.

The man writes that he is bound to his mother not only by every tie of natural affection, but of gratitude, for his father was a drunkard who misused him and his mother, and finally deserted them, and his every childish memory is of her toiling all day long and far into the night to support him. Now he wants to repay that devotion by making her old age happy and comfortable, and his wife demands that he turn the old woman out as if she was an old work horse who had served her day.

The man cannot do it. He knows that he is his mother's all. Every interest she has in life is bound up in him. He is her one ray of sunshine, and he cannot send her off to live among strangers, to be lonely and neglected, and waited upon by hired hands. Yet he loves his wife, and his heart is torn between the conflicting claims of these two women.

He writes: "What shall I do? Shall I give up my wife, or shall I forsake my old mother, who has got such a little while to live, and make her last years desolate? Can you can settle this question you are a wonder."

If I could settle the question of the mother-in-law I would be more than a wonder. I would be wisdom incarnate and the greatest benefactor to my fellow-creatures who has ever lived, but, alas, I don't even pretend to be able to solve this heart-breaking enigma.

The only way it can be solved is by a great and unselfish love, and very few people are capable of that. If this man's wife really loved him enough to put his happiness above h... own she would cherish his mother for his sake. She would feel that she could never look at the old woman's work-knotted hands without wanting to kiss them because they had toiled so hard for that little lad who is now her husband.

Suppose the old woman is cranky and querulous and set in her ways, as old people are apt to be. It is a poor and paltry love that is not capable of making some sacrifices, and the wife who is not willing to purchase her husband's happiness at the price of putting up with his old mother certainly gives him every reason to doubt her affection.

Precisely the same thing may be said of men's relations to their mothers-in-law. It would seem that the man who truly loved his wife would look upon her mother as the one individual who had bestowed upon him the most precious gift on earth. But, on the contrary, most men hate their mothers-in-law at sight and treat them as if they had done them an irreparable injury by bringing into the world the woman they married. Which is uncomplimentary, to say the least of it, to their wives.

It is a strange thing that neither husbands nor wives seem to realize that when they hate their in-laws they are jeopardizing their own happiness. With all but the most dastardly, the love of our parents is interwoven with the very fibres of our souls, and husbands or wives try to destroy that at their peril.

Not long ago a man, asked why he had married a certain girl, replied, "Because I saw how good she was to old women. I have an old mother that I worship, and for years I had refrained from marrying for fear my wife would not treat her properly, but when I saw Mary's tenderness and consideration for her old aunt I knew I had found a woman I could trust."

Practically all men feel the same way. They love their own families. They resent their wives' ill treatment of their relatives, and you will never find a woman who is on good terms with her husband's people who isn't repaid a thousandfold by his devotion to her.

Nor is there any one thing that a husband can do that makes his wife so grateful to him as for him to be "nice" to her family, and especially to her mother and father. She knows it is his final proof of love for her that makes those that are dear to her dear to him.

It is only unselfish love that can solve the mother-in-law problem. The man whose first thought is for his wife's happiness; the woman who is willing to make any sacrifice to insure her husband's happiness will treat their mothers-in-law as they wish their husbands or wives to treat their own mothers. And that's all there is to it.

Recognition

By Jane McLean

SO you are Love, you person gracious lipped!
And radiant! How strange! I scarcely feel
My heart in bondage, but your fingers tipped
With rosy warmth into my fingers steal.

So you are Love, full beautiful, I thought.
Your eyes might be the eyes that Pain would wear,
Or that your hair would be severely caught
Beneath the black cowl of the garb of Prayer.

And you are Love—a maid, no coifed pure saint,
Nor with Pain's sterner gaze reproaching me.
But Life is Pain, and Prayer must bring restraint,
And so you save the soul, Love, of all three.

Flashes on the Screen

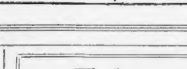
SINCE SHE IS GONE

SINCE she is gone the house is still,
The rooms are dark, the shades are drawn;
I never journey homeward till
The hour is late, since she is gone;
The silence there is so profound
That when I mount the stairs at night
My lightest footfall makes a sound
Which tends to fill my breast with fright.



SINCE she is gone it sometimes seems
As if a ghost came through the gloom
To spoil the sweetness of my dreams
And linger in my lonely room;
Yet out of all that gives us pain
There is some pleasure to be drawn;
There's none to whom I must explain

When I get home, since she is gone.

Too Much to Expect

"Look here," said the head of the firm, addressing the new stenographer, "this letter is all wrong. Your punctuation is very bad and your spelling is worse. I can't afford to send out any such stuff to my clients."

"Well," she replied, "I'm sorry if my work don't suit you, but was you expecting to get a Mrs. Noah H. Webster for $15 a week?"

Has No Heart to Be Anything Else

Johnny, is your father an optimist or a pessimist?"

"He ain't neither one. He's a chiropodist."

Some men are born great and some achieve greatness, but no man is as great as the chap who has made a girl break an engagement for his sake thinks he is.

A girl regards her life as a failure if no man has ever made a fool of himself because of her.

Inklings and Thinklings

Historic affinities: A golden hair and a black coat.

Strange, but we've never met a man yet who declared he was the captain of his soul that we'd trust as captain of a mudscow.

See an article in Harper's Weekly entitled, "Why Workmen Drink." Summed up, we judge it's because they feel like it.

"The new short skirts which the dear girls are wearing," says the New Orleans States, "are flounced so as to make 'em look like stacks of pancakes." But very few of the fillers of these skirts would know how to cook a stack of wheats.
